County Engineer Vigorously Denies Assertion of Water Users Official

LAST MINUTE clash between F. C. Finkle, consulting engineer for the water users' association, and Paul Bailey, chief engineer for the Orange county flood control district, occurred at 4 p. m. today when Finkle came to the flood control offices, stating that he wished to warn Bailey that he called the danger of the lower Prado dam site on the Santa Ana river as a part of the proposed flood control plan.

Finkle was accompanied by Art Lucas, organizer of the water users' association. Before argument started Finkle offered a cigarette. Bailey declined, saying that he did not smoke, and one of the large windows of the office as Finkle lit his own.

Most engineers smoke," replied Finkle.

His warning," Finkle stated there was shale underlying the sand dam and that, with the weight of the structure, and the fact it will impound, the shale will be forced to dissolve and allow the dam to wash out. He provided Bailey and newspapermen with a statement sworn to before a notary, in which he alleged that pieces of this rock given to him

The even dozen, all young men, were released on bail of that amount after they were arrested at Santa Monica for seeking a sun tan by permitting the bathing suit to dangle to the waist.

Santa Monica, Ocean Park, Venice, Hermosa Beach and Redondo Beach reported the greatest crowds in history although Southern California's heat wave went into the 80-odd degree class after registering in the nineties through the week.

RESOLUTION OF S. A. MINISTERS HITS WINE SALE

City Trustees Slated to Get Document Tonight; Hughes Resigns

The Santa Ana Ministerial association, meeting at noon today at the Y. M. C. A., unanimously adopted a resolution requesting the city council to pass legislation which would eliminate the sale of wine in this city. A similar resolution was unanimously adopted for presentation to the board of supervisors, requesting that steps be taken for abolishing the sale of wine in this city.

The Rev. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, introduced the resolution. Similar action has been taken by the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. and by Santa Ana churches. The resolution addressed to the council will be presented at tonight's session and that for the board of supervisors will be presented at the next meeting of the board.

James H. Hughes, minister of education at the First Methodist church, submitted his resignation as secretary of the Ministerial association, a position which he has held for the past year. He will attend college in Boston. Sixteen members of the association, representing nine churches, were present at today's session, presided over by the Rev. O. Hawks Leaves For New York To Set Record

Will Attempt to Break All Marks in Flight Across Country and Back

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—(UP)—Capt. Frank Hawks, holder of the west-east non-stop flight record, left here by plane early for New York, from where he will make an effort to break all transcontinental time marks.

Captain Hawks will proceed to leisurely stages to the eastern city. Arriving there in time for his scheduled take-off Wednesday in an attempt to break the east-west non-stop record set by the ill-fated plane, "Yankee Doodle."

Reaching Los Angeles, Hawks will pause only long enough to refuel before starting a return trip by which he hopes to lower the record set by himself a few months ago.

Captain Hawks' round-trip flight will be but one of several attempts to establish new aviation records scheduled to take place this week.

Leo Nonds and Maurice Morrison were to start a flight here late today in hope of breaking the refueling endurance mark now held by Reg Robbins and "Jim" Kelly of "Fort Worth" fame.

Lieut. L. W. Mendell and R. R. Reinhardt are expected to make a similar attempt this week.

Reg Robbins, who arrived here from Texas yesterday, was to witness the two starts before flying to Santa Maria on an inspection tour of aviation fields on the Pacific coast.

Marjorie Crawford, film girl, will take off in the tri-motored altobuss in an attempt at a refueling endurance record. It was announced. She will be accompanied by three men.

Herbert J. Fabry, holder of the solo endurance record, is to pilot a commercial plane Wednesday in a try for a new altitude record.

Bert White, parachute jumper, will accompany Fabry to an altitude of 25,000 feet in an effort to better the present record jump of 24,200 feet.

OFFICERS TO TAKE M'CLURE NORTH TUESDAY

Confessed Slayer of Sweet-Heart Starts Sentence Early This Week

JOHN ALEXANDER M'CLURE, Long Beach real estate man, who Saturday morning heard Judge E. J. Marks pronounce him guilty of murder in the first degree following his confession of killing his sweetheart, Mrs. Myrtle Wood, in a suicide pact, that failed of completion on his part, is expected to commence the trip to San Quentin prison tomorrow or Wednesday.

M'Clure was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penal institution by Judge Marks, after the complete confession secured after a week's work on the case by Sheriff Sam Jernigan and his deputies, F. W. Howard, A. L. Steward and Herman Zabel, and Deputy District Attorneys Sam Collins and S. R. Kaufman. The body of Mrs. Wood was found Saturday morning, June 15, behind a sign board at Emerald bay near Laguna Beach, and M'Clure was picked up the same day near the Rodriguez dam site east of Tia Juana with three bullets in his head, from shots which he first claimed were fired at him Thursday night by two men who forced him to leave Mrs. Wood in his car at the Emerald bay location and later robbed him and took him across the border into Mexico.

The convicted prisoner was taken into custody by the Orange county officers Sunday night and confined in the Orange county hospital, where his wounds were treated, until Friday afternoon when he was arraigned on the murder charge before Justice Kenneth Morrison, and later locked up in the county jail. A partial confession was obtained that afternoon under the skillful quizzing of Steward and Zabel, and he changed his story to the effect that Mrs. Wood had shot herself in his presence and that he had attempted suicide when he realized that all the evidence pointed to the fact that he would be charged with her murder.

The officers broke his story completely.

Spanish Ships Search Around Island Waters

Portugal and England Come To Aid of Sister Nation of Spain

(By United Press)
THE SPANISH government, aided by Portugal, exerted every resource at its command today to locate Commander Ramon Franco and his three aides in the seaplane Dornier 16, believed to have been lost somewhere between Portugal and the Azores. The British embassy at Madrid was solicited to lend the aid of an airplane carried, if one is available at Gibraltar, to aid in the search of the area in which it is believed the Dornier 16 was forced down.

Coincidentally with the devoting of all energies to the search, the Spanish government opened an inquiry as to the means by which the Spanish people were hoaxed Saturday by unconfirmed and baseless reports that the Dornier 16 had safely landed at San Miguel island, at the easterly extreme of the Azores group.

Rumors continued to multiply today. Wireless messages said the steamer Machallanca (or Magallanes) had intercepted a radio message from the steamer Gredelon that it had seen an abandoned airplane 100 miles from the Azores, but neither the Spanish government nor the Gredelon's owners, the Derwin Shipping company at Cardiff, had any communication to this effect. The Gredelon is due at Gibraltar Wednesday.

Another report quoted the Gredelon as having heard the rumble of an airplane's motor 200 miles south-east of San Miguel. This was discounted in the absence of confirmation.

Four Spanish destroyers left Spain's chief naval arsenal at Ferrol during the day to search a wide area about the Azores. The submarine Squalon at Cartagena was in readiness to move out as 3 p. m. to take up its end of the search. Seaplanes scouted low over the seas seeking a trace of Franco and his companions.

CHAPMAN'S STAND ON BONDS

Editor Register: There has been some confusion by reason of a letter written by another Chapman, as to my position on the bonds. I am for them positively. I went thoroughly into every phase of the matter, and am giving my unqualified support to the project as it stands.

County Supervisor.

VOTERS OF COUNTY CALLED ON TO REJECT OR ACCEPT $16,500,000 BOND ISSUE

Last Minute Statements Are Issued By Both Sides—Supervisors Declare No Concessions Promised

JEROME PREDICTS BIG VICTORY

WHILE both sides were winding up their pre-election campaigns today and predicting victory, voters of Orange county were preparing to go to the polls in 174 precincts tomorrow and decide whether this county shall bond itself for $16,500,000 to provide for flood control and water conservation on the Santa Ana river and other streams.

Approximately 51,000 residents are qualified to cast their votes tomorrow and the interest taken in the campaign has been interpreted as indicating a heavy vote. The polls will be open from six a. m. to seven p. m.

Last minute statements were issued today by the board of supervisors, by W. C. Jerome, chairman of the citizens' committee working on behalf of the bonds, and by the Water Users' association, heading the opposition.

The high light in the statement signed by the supervisors was a declaration that "no concessions have been requested by or granted to the upper counties, Riverside and San Bernardino, nor any agreement entered with regard to selection of the lower site rather than the upper site by Orange county." The statement pointed out that as supervisors these officials have taken no part in the campaign but that the raising of the question of choice between sites made them feel it their duty to explain why the selection was made.

The statement made by the Water Users' association follows:

"In the short space of time permitted, the Water Users' Association has conducted an educational campaign to acquaint voters of Orange County with the danger of voting $16,500,000 of bonds for a project that is deemed wasteful, unneeded, extremely dangerous and outside unnecessary."

"Every statement that has been issued by this organization has been based wholly upon facts. We have refused to engage in mud-slinging or to deal in personalities, and except exceedingly rare occasions have resorted to vilification and personal attacks. It has been their principal defense of an ill-considered and unneeded proposition."

"In our investigation we have had the benefit of engineer and technical advice from leading men of the country. We have presented reports from Bartlett M. Jones, J. B. Lippincott and F. C. Finkle, engineers from E. M. Barnes and B. A. Otis, geologists. From several earth-handling experts and for authoritative regarding the financial and economic features of the enormous undertaking."

"We began our investigation with an open mind. In fact, our first statement called attention to the fact that this tremendous bond issue was being rushed upon the people of Orange County without giving them time to study the matter. We still feel that voters have been deprived of a sufficient length of time to go into the question. We feel that we have performed a duty to our fellow citizens in gathering such information as we could for their consideration."

"There has been an overwhelming change of sentiment since this organization went on record as being against the bonds. The people of Orange County feel that they must have flood control and water conservation. We also stand for such a program, but not at the cost county officials have endeavored to thrust upon us."

"In our final appeal to voters, we urge that they defeat the present

Mrs. Summers, wife of the bandit suspect, is being held in the county jail, without bail, as a material witness.

COUNTY FLOOD CONTROL HEAD GIVEN WARNING

by Chester Marlave, geologist for the flood control district, had dissolved in a glass of water overnight.

Bailey disputed the assertion vigorously and declared that he had made the same test in March, 1928, and that the rock had failed to dissolve. The samples used by Finkle were obtained yesterday from Marlave at a public meeting of the association at the lower Prado dam site. Marlave claimed today that the samples were different portions chipped from a larger sample.

Bailey claimed that the rock referred to by Finkle was impervious to water and that it would not dissolve or allow the dam to wash out. Finkle stated that Marlave had told him that the samples were wet when taken from below the dam site. Marlave denied having made such a statement and pointed out that he had said the samples were dry. They might have been wet outside, he said.

There is shale at both sites, Bailey declared, but asserted that at the upper site it is slightly more porous than at the lower site where he claimed it will resist the action of the water. The shale has been under the weight of water and sand in the river for thousands of years, he declared, and has not washed or disintegrated in that time. He said he could not see why it would disintegrate now, under these conditions. Finkle, however, declared that it would.

Finkle left at about 11:25 p. m., stating that he was scheduled to make an address at noon at a Santa Ana sugar mill. His statement made before a notary follows:

State of California, County of Orange, ss.

F. C. FINKLE, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

Yesterday afternoon, June 23rd, 1929, at a mass meeting of citizens of Orange County, assembled at the Lower Prado Dam site, attended by Paul Bailey, Chief Engineer of the Orange County Flood Control District, as the site of the dam, his subordinate, Chester Marlave, exhibited a piece of rocky material which he stated he had taken from a drill hole on the dam site as a sample of the bed rock on which the dam would be constructed and handed same to me for examination, asking me if this was not good bed rock for the construction; I detached a fragment from this material, stating to Mr. Marlave that I believe it was not and would dissolve in water; yesterday evening, after returning to my room at 10:20 p. m., before retiring, I placed it in a glass jar with a little water in the bottom surrounding the sample; this morning at arising at 7 a. m. this sample had completely dissolved and softened in the water. I made similar tests of the bed rock on which the St. Francis Dam was built, which failed March 12, 1928, and the sample from the Lower Prado Dam site given me by Mr. Marlave dissolved much more rapidly than the rock from the St. Francis Dam site at Los Angeles, tested in the same manner.

F. C. FINKLE.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 24th day of June, 1929.

BOND ELECTION ON TUESDAY TO BE HEAVY ONE

bond issue that that a better and more economical plan can be worked out and voted upon a few months from now.

We wish to thank the thousands of citizens who have supported us in our campaign and to state that it has been our pleasure to serve the people of Orange County during the short period of our existence.

Jerome, in his statement, concluded by saying that, "In predicting victory at the polls tomorrow we are relying on the common sense of the voters of Orange County."

"We can dismiss the question of necessity by saying that even our opponents agree to the need of both flood control and water conservation." In discussing whether the plan advanced is the correct one, Jerome called attention to the engineers in charge of the project and to the men on the advisory committee, including C. E. Utt, W. E. Williams, N. T. Edwards, Donald Dodge, Harry H. Hale, J. A. Knapp and A. N. Saxton.

"The appointment of these citizens proves the desire of the supervisors to take the public into their confidence and keep it informed on all points," he said.

Safety, economy and adequacy were fully taken into consideration, Jerome said. At no time will the increase in taxes be more than 45 cents on the $100 of assessed valuation and the maintenance cost has been estimated by flood control engineers to be between $25,000 and $50,000 a year, he stated. The most able advisors, including the most competent engineering talent the United States affords, was employed to prepare a plan, he declared.

He asserted that the opposition does not have to make good on statements made in the campaign whereas the proponents of the scheme will be held responsible. The supervisors' statement pointed out that Dr. E. K. Soper, consulting geologist, had recommended the lower site, that a major fault exists above the upper site, and that the lower site is farthest from a fault of any site.

"The lower site would require that only one-half as much land be condemned as at the upper site. There would be no disturbance of water rights or interference with distribution of water at the lower site. At the upper site a reservoir would block rising streams and involve the county in serious damage suits.

At the upper site there is a probability that water would be lost by seepage to another watershed and would be pumped from near the reservoir to irrigate agricultural lands in Riverside county. There would be no possibility of loss at the lower site. At last, located in Riverside county, as much water might be lost as would be conserved.

"The lower site would fit into the state plan for development of the river and would be eligible for any financial appropriations made by either state or federal governments, which would be used to retire our county bonds."

pletely Saturday morning, and at 10 o'clock he made a complete confession to Deputy District Attorney Kaufman and Collins that he had fired the fatal shot Thursday night, June 13, following the last love tryst with his sweetheart, and that the suicide pact had been discussed between them for several weeks.

The plea of guilty was entered at 11:15 o'clock Saturday morning in department two of the superior court after he had waived his preliminary examination and 30 minutes later he heard Judge Marks sentence him to life imprisonment in expiation of his crime of taking the life of a human being. A record in the apprehension, confession and sentence of a murderer is believed to have been made for Orange county in the swiftness with which the whole case was carried to completion. The convicted man being sentenced just 170 1-2 hours from the time that it first became known that a crime had been committed.

McClure will be the second member of his family to have been sent from the local courts to San Quentin. His son, J. H. McClure, is an inmate there now under a sentence of not less than five years imposed here by Judge James L. Allen in January, 1928, under a count of robbery. The younger McClure attempted to hold up the Garden Grove bank December 6, 1927, and was apprehended during the holdup after he was shot in the hand by Deputy Sheriff Henry Blacholder.

FINAL ARGUMENTS AND PLEAS SUBMITTED ON EVE OF WATER BOND ELECTION BY LEADERS

On the eve of the $16,000,000 water bond election both sides submitted final statements today. While neither side predicted victory each endeavored to bring out its most salient argument and with advice on how to vote tomorrow closed the campaign. Following are the closing statements from leaders on both sides:

June 24, 1929. Are you going to do about it tomorrow? I'm voting yes.
LAWRENCE W. (SI) EATON.

BY J. C. METZGAR
(Mr. Water Users' Association)
We have investigated the dam bond scheme and submitted our findings to the voters of Orange county through facts, figures, and expert testimony of engineers, geologists and attorneys. We have done everything possible to show the folly of this scheme, even though it comes under the guise of a civic need, and now the issue is in the hands of Orange county voters, to accept or reject tomorrow.

Those who vote for this unnecessarily extravagant sum of money take upon their shoulders the responsibility of not only imposing a burdensome tax on the people, but also the much graver responsibility in the possible loss of lives and property comparable to nothing that has occurred in the history of this great southwest.

Most truly yours,
(Signed) WILLARD SMITH,
Chairman of Board of Supervisors.
(Signed) PAUL BAILEY,
Chief Engineer, Orange County Flood Control District.

June 24, 1929.

We have secured irrefutable evidence and given it to you for your consideration and deliberation. We have shown that the building of the proposed Sulphur Slide dam is not only ill-advised from a financial standpoint, but a dangerous experiment, and we want no doubtful dams in Orange county.

No dam like this in magnitude, and on the plans submitted in this bond proposal, has ever been built in the world, considering formations and soil conditions, and again we reiterate that it is purely an experiment that may prove costly.

Taxes fall alike on the rich and the poor, according to their holdings, and whatever is a burden for one, burdens everybody, in proportion to their holdings. So we vote tomorrow on our own individual tax bills and our own individual responsibility regarding any great disaster in the future, our vote might help bring about, and we must look after the best interest of ourselves, and our families, and not burden the young folks of today with an unwieldy handicap of tax debts for the future.

We want no earth dam 155 feet high to menace Orange county cities, and we have no dollars to waste on any project that could be consummated for half the money.

Therefore, for the good of our community in every conceivable way, and in the interests of a prosperous Orange county, we advise you in all sincerity to go to the polls tomorrow and vote "No."

It will be a vote for Orange county's good, inasmuch as it will be a vote for better water conservation in the future; money conservation, life conservation, property conservation, no excessive tax burdens, and no doubtful dams.

J. C. METZGAR.

Editor Register:—I cannot see anything to be gained by delay. Since all the competent engineers who have studied Mr. Bailey's plans carefully and have gone over the data have approved the lower site as safe and logical, and since we have had the legal realty of the upper site presented to us convincingly by Judge R. Y. Williams and Attorney H. C. Head, we cannot see how conditions will be changed by delay. The lower site will continue to be selected by competent reliable engineers who take time enough to give the project complete study—and we ought not to listen to any other kind—and the legal situation in relation to the upper site cannot be changed by delay.

There has been a lot of unkind talk about political dams. It seems that with some people when ever they want to oppose a public proposition they start at once to shouting "politics." One reason why I am for these bonds is that the plan proposes complete flood protection and water conservation for all Orange county.

H. A. GARDNER.

Action for Libel by Simon against F. C. Finkle and Barclay McCowan for publication of two letters written by Finkle.

Ref.—Cal. Reports No. 190, p. 613—Simon v. Finkle. ALFRED SIMON, Plaintiff—F. C. FINKLE, defendant. Quotations from decision State Supreme Court.

"Upon the issues thus raised the case was tried by the court without a jury, and resulted in a judgment for the plaintiff."

"The trial court found that as to the first letter 'the statements pertaining to the plaintiff were false and defamatory, but that the publication thereof by each of said defendants was not joint and that for that reason plaintiff was not entitled to recover on the first count."

"As to the second letter, the trial court found in effect that certain statements therein were false and defamatory and known at the time of their publication by the defendants to be false and that the publication was by each of said defendants and done for the purpose of injuring the plaintiff as an attorney at law and aspersing his good name and standing in his profession. In addition thereto the express finding was made 'that the publication of the said letter by each of said defendants was the result of the joint acts of said defendants combining and conspiring together for the purpose of injuring the plaintiff in his name and reputation.'"

"The trial court, however, was not required to accept this testimony at its face value, and in view of the inference readily deducible from the evidence that an independent investigation would have demonstrated Finkle to be a falsifier, the trial court may well have concluded that he was deliberately disseminating false information with the intent and purpose of inducing McCowan to use it against the plaintiff in the recall fight."

"Judgment affirmed."

Above reference has been found by Citizens' Committee which throws light on the past activities of F. C. Finkle.
(Signed) W. C. JEROME,
Chairman.

To the Editor:—Let us get down to fundamentals in regard to the Flood Control Bonds. It is a business proposition, covered by three or four questions.

1. Do we need Flood Control?
2. Do we need more water?
3. Is the plan worked out carefully by competent men?

4. Can we afford it, the boundaries of the Flood Control district being the boundaries of the county?

We all agree that the answer to the first question is "Yes." We also all agree that we need more water. As to the third question, I have followed Paul Bailey through his work, as reported in the newspapers, have heard him talk, have discussed various points with him and I know his standing in his profession to be very high. I have also examined his report and that of the three engineers who constituted the consulting board who are men of wide experience in such matters. Am also informed that these four men, Mr. Bailey and the consulting engineers, have built approximately eighty dams. Then too, our own county engineers have scrutinized these plans and all these engineers have agreed that these plans are the best for Orange county. It also appears that no engineer who has examined the data carefully, upon which the plans are based has decided otherwise. I have not been impressed with the arguments of Mr. Finkle when I learned that he was condemning this whole project, wholesale and in detail, without having made an examination like the engineers above named and without having given the data gathered by professional geologists that same care, study, time and work as did those professional geologists who determined to their entire satisfaction that the lower dam in the Santa Ana river is the best geologically in the canyon.

I therefore, conclude that the answer to the third question is "Yes."

As to the fourth question,—can we afford not to? Some one has said in this campaign, "The time will come when this dam will be worth millions in hours." Those who have seen the damage wrought by the Santa Ana river in times of flood know that this is true. Human lives is a factor in money matters. The influx of population to this county and the increase in property values is such, together with the great need of getting all the water we can, is so paramount that my answer to the fourth question is "Yes." Tomorrow I am going to vote "Yes."

L. A. WEST.

Huntington Beach, Calif., June 24th, 1929.

Editor of Santa Ana Register, Santa Ana, Calif.
Dear Sir:—Having followed the propaganda pro and con and made a thorough study of the situation regarding the Flood Control Bonds, I have come to the conclusion that there is only one right and proper thing to do and that is to vote for the Bonds tomorrow, June 25th, for the following reasons:—

1. In the first place the opposition has endeavored to make it appear, either through lack of knowledge or purposely, that the location of the Santa Ana Canyon dam is to be located at Sulphur Slide which is absolutely erroneous. We all realize and know that it would be a dangerous place to put a dam at Sulphur Slide. The fact is the dam is considerable distance below Sulphur Slide.

2. In reading their latest pamphlet it seems unreasonable and ridiculous to advocate that everything is wrong to this proposition. I cannot conceive of engineers such as Mr. Bailey, Mr. Hermann and Mr. Wilke with a life-time experience covering engineering matters along these lines, being wrong about everything. That is, the location of the dam is wrong; the estimates are wrong; the type of dam is wrong, and in fact every regarding the setup is wrong. You come to analyze the situation it would appear ridiculous. If there was some

SEVEN INJURED IN ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK END

Seven minor injuries were reported by traffic authorities, city and county police officers and hospitals as a result of three automobile accidents that occurred yesterday.

Cars driven by C. A. Brush, 37, Huntington Beach route one, and George M. Jenifer, 57, Tustin, collided at the intersection of Newport Beach road and the state highway at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Ethel B. Brush, of Huntington Beach, and Etta B. Jenifer and John Slogon, of Tustin, received slight injuries, according to the report of the accident filed by State Traffic Officer E. G. Yoder.

The four-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cantor, 2501 East Vernon street, Los Angeles, and Mrs. L. J. Price, of Westminster, were slightly hurt when cars driven by Cantor and Price came together at the intersection of West Seventeenth street and Huntington Beach road at 6:30 o'clock last evening.

Ina Gregg, 605 McFadden street, received a cut on her arm, and Mrs. Ada Teter, 104 North B street, Tustin, was slightly bruised when cars driven by Mrs. Teter's daughter and Sam Thompson, Rosemead hotel guest, came together at the intersection of Main and Fairview streets at 9:30 last night.

Santa Ana police today are working on two burglary cases reported over the week end. A restaurant on East Fourth street was entered some time last night by thieves, who took food and a small amount of money. A store on West Fourth street was robbed of fireworks valued at $21 Saturday night.

The restaurant robbery was reported at 7:30 o'clock this morning by M. Winterbourne, 1029 East Fourth street, and investigation revealed that the thief had evidently entered by a back door, just pushing out a key that was in the lock, and taking the key with him after locking the door when he left. A slot machine, gum vending machine, some cigars, cheese, dried beef, bread, meat and a small amount of money from the cash register were on the missing list.

The report of Sergeant R. S. Ellett and Motorcycle Officer Ed. Leitz, who investigated the burglary of the store operated by Carl Quinn, 901 West Fourth street, stated that the intruder at this place evidently stayed in the room when it was locked up Saturday evening, for Jimmy marks were found on the inside at one of the windows. Firecrackers, roman candles and skyrockets comprised the loot at this place.

Logan School Work To Begin Tuesday

Excavation for construction of the new Logan school, located at Logan and Stafford streets, will start tomorrow, according to R. H. Drake, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the Santa Ana board of education.

The general contract for the project is in the hands of Wilson and Sever, Santa Ana contractors, who were lowest bidders. Electrical work will be done by the Robinson Electric company, plumbing by C. F. Carlson, Santa Ana, and heating installations by the Pacific Pipe and Supply company, Santa Ana.

The Rev. James E. Shannon is filling the pulpit at the Church of the United Brethren in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. R. W. Harlow. His subject yesterday morning was "Impressions and Expressions." He took his text from the Psalms and it read: "Oh, Give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good, for His mercy endureth forever."

"Let the redeemed of the Lord say so," urged the Rev. Mr. Shannon. "Impressions, good or bad, will evaporate if denied expression. Good intentions will not carry one very far unless they are put into practice. Good intentions do not of themselves send even smoke to heaven when offered on the altar."

"One may think to the limit of his ability for or against anything good or bad, but it amounts to very little unless given expression."

"Expression is the law of life and growth everywhere. Life is demonstrative. Trees seem lifeless while they are leafless. The living currents within the tree must have expression in fresh foliage, unfolding flowers and maturing fruit. Music is of value only as it is brought out in expression. All the harmonies and symphonies of the masters were useless until given to the world. The mental images and pictures of the sculptor and artist must be given stone or canvas expression in order to bless the world and reveal the inner life of the men."

"It may be said that talent is both inborn and acquired. 'Practice makes perfect.' Demosthenes, the man of stammering speech, strengthened his voice by declaiming when out of breath from running and he practiced in an underground abode for months at a time."

"Domestic love is subject to the same law of life and growth. Words of praise for children are encouraging and heartening. Expressions of appreciation as between husband and wife are warming and inspiring. With the heart man believeth unto righteousness."

BOOZE COUNTS FILED AGAINST SIX PRISONERS

Liquor charges were placed against six prisoners at the county jail over the week end. Four faced straight intoxication counts, while the other two were booked for possession and driving while under the influence of liquor.

R. C. Chatfield, 38, painter, 2124 East Fourth street, Los Angeles, was arrested by State Traffic Officer Dan Adams last night for driving while intoxicated.

Deputy Sheriff Fred Humiston arrested Trinidad Arriga, 40, laborer, of Upland, on a possession count, and Charles Ramirez, 16, bootblack, of Santa Ana, and Ramon Castaneda, 21, laborer, of 513 West Fifth street, on drug charges.

Officer L. H. Nicholson lodged Earl Elmendorf, sailor, of San Diego, in jail early yesterday morning, for intoxication.

George Barras, 25, laborer, of Delhi, was arrested by State Officer George Stinson Saturday night and locked up in the county jail on a drunk charge.

Works For Bonds; Lost 4 Relatives In Dam Disaster

Among those in Santa Ana who are anxious to see the plan for a high dam in Santa Ana canyon defeated tomorrow, and who are working hard to try to accomplish that purpose, is Mary E. Twombly, of 1502 West Fourth street.

The reason is that she lost four relatives in the St. Francis dam disaster, and she doesn't want to see the possibility of any similar disaster in Orange county.

It will be remembered that Tom Kennedy, his wife, Reba Kennedy, and their two children, aged 3 and 6, left Santa Ana to visit relatives in the Santa Clara valley the day before the dam broke there, and all were killed. Mrs. Kennedy was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Connell of 509 South Parton street, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Twombly.

Business and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation. The quality or value of an impression is revealed largely in the mode or quality of expression.

"In the fourth book of the New Testament some form of the verb to witness or to testify is found 30 times and some form of the verb to believe, 54 times, indicating that some persons expressed something of their inner life and thus produced worthwhile impressions upon others."

"In religion there is a great need of the outward manifestation of the inward feelings. A much more general participation in public worship will be highly beneficial. There is no good reason for remaining in the background. None need wait for breezes from Beulah land, for gales of inspiration, deeper convictions, stronger impulses or more convenient seasons. Now is the time."

$700,000 SPENT ON BROADWAY BUILDINGS IN RECENT YEARS; BUSINESS SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Property owners on North Broadway, between First and Hickey streets, today were justified in declaring that the street has developed into one of the important business thoroughfares of the city.

Enterprising property owners in the past three or four years have expended approximately $700,000 in building improvements of attractive type.

In this expenditure they have been successful in location of good tenants with attractive commercial lines—a situation that has brought to the street merchants carrying stocks they make it possible for person to buy anything that comes with the category of necessities and luxuries.

The most expensive of the new building construction is that of the Santa Land company recently completed at the northeast corner of Broadway and Second street, the cost of the structure being reported at $250,000.

Handsome Theater

The Yost-Broadway theater classes as second in point of cost, the Broadway Improvement company, composed of a syndicate of local men of wealth. This improvement was made at a cost of $162,000. The same company also added later the building immediately to the north of the theater, at a cost of $48,000. The latter building is on the southwest corner of Broadway and Fifth streets. The Floyd B. Smith structure, immediately south of the Moore store and office building, constructed at a cost of $50,000, added to the available store space on the New Broadway.

New Stores

The Broadway Development company, also formed by a group of local citizens, erected a new building on the southeast corner of Broadway and Third streets. Some of the rooms are located on the Third street front of the corner lot. The improvement cost the company $24,000.

$75,000 Block

The Santa Ana Development company, owner of the Grand Central market, erected a new building on the southwest corner of Broadway and Second for Montgomery Ward and company, at a cost approximating $75,000.

Within the period covered, Horace and Walter Fine spent in excess of $15,000 in remodeling their property on the southeast corner of Fifth street. Included in the cost was the addition of a number of small office rooms on the Fifth street side of the property owned by the brothers.

"Shop on Broadway should be the rule," said a property owner on the street today, as he pointed to the fine improvements made on other streets by their narrow width.

Many Enterprises

Starting north on Broadway at First, the purchaser contacts the Grand Central market, and here he will find almost anything that comes under the classification of average demand. The individual business enterprises within this mart are too large in number for individual identification.

Should the buyer want business cards, wedding announcements or invitations, or anything in the commercial printing line, all he has to do is to step across the street to the Plugg printers at 114 North Broadway. Should he be in need of engraving or artist work, all he would have to do would be to step up stairs in the Plugg building to the Santa Ana Engraving company and the Hastings Art studio.

At 116 North Broadway, is the Montgomery Ward and company store, with two floors carrying merchandise for which this nationally known institution is noted at prices that are attractive. It might be drawn that the market needs when on the street. In that even there is the K. and B. Drug store, in the new Santa Ana building, in a room cornering Broadway and Second and listed at 201 North Broadway. The store is newly stocked throughout.

Maybe he might need some used safety razor blades sharpened. If he did, all he would have to do would be to step from the drug store across the street to the Charley Spangler razor sharpening stand at 204 North Broadway.

Beach Prosperity

Continuing north on the west side of the street, he would find at the office of the Capistrano Beach company at 219 North Broadway, Don Williams, former U. S. C. football star, and his associates ready to give every information possible on the advantages of investment in lots at Capistrano Beach, a short distance below the mission town of San Juan Capistrano.

Adjoining this office is located the Sleeper and Huntley Radio company, the street number being 212. The name indicates the character of business conducted by the firm.

Coming to 220, the buyer would find a fine assortment of teas, coffees, spices and nuts at the Pacific Coffee shop.

Dr. K. A. Loersch, optometrist, is located at 222. Dr. Loersch has an attractive office, equipped for giving the most scientific service in the line represented in his line of professional work.

Woman's Shop

The woman shopper would be deeply interested and delighted in the next three stores in the block on the west side of the street, for at 224 is the Broadway Silk Shoppe and—well, a woman would know what she might expect to find in such a shoppe, and there would be some surprises found in the fine stock.

M. D. Comfort has established a classy woman's ready to wear store at the next number, 226, and "M. D." as he is called by his friends, has stock that is replete in the things so dear to the feminine heart. "Comfort quality worn with comfort and pride" might easily be adopted by the owner as a slogan appropriate to his store. The Nannette Shoppe is at 228, a corner location, at Broadway and Third. The Shoppe has been in business here for many years and women have learned to recognize the place as a dependable place for the acquisition of hats that meet the styles of the season and at prices that are satisfying.

Crossing to the opposite side of the street in the same block a buyer seeking a radio would find what he wants in the attractive radio store maintained at 213 by the Liggett Radio shop.

A man might be "all at sea" should he step into the next address, 215, for here it is that the Betty Rose shop is now located. A woman, however, would be all smiles, for the pretty store carries a full line of children's dainty things that stir the feminine heart.

Loans Provided

Perhaps a buyer on the street may want to borrow money for a home building enterprise, or for some other purpose, and if this should be the case with him, he would find the Southwest Building and Loan association at 217, and he would find the officials ready to give him their full service in the financing of a building program.

Electrical Appliances

Continuing his negotiations with the financial concern, he would have to step but to the next door if he would be in need of a shave, haircut or other services, rendered by tonsorial artists, for the door of the loan company opens almost directly into the door of the Booth Barber shop at 219.

The Electrical Appliance company operates at the next station, 221, which happens to be on the corner of Broadway and Third street, and which completes the stores within the block between Second and Third streets. Washers and other electrical appliances are available here.

The F. D. Leonard photo gallery

is located at 301 North Broadway. Leonard is the pioneer photographer in Santa Ana.

Stepping along up the street on the same side, the buyer would meet up with the office of Owl Taxicab service, and if he was tired to walk home, he could order a cab and be whisked to his residence for 10 cents, providing the home was not too distant. If he wanted a parking place he would find such accommodation at 305.

S. A. Social Club

If he was a member of the Santa Ana Social club, located in the second floor of the F. B. Smith building, he would have to walk after parking his car at 305 only a few feet to reach 309½, the stairway entrance to the club.

He would find the Utley men's furnishing store at 311. Utley's is one of the oldest stores offering this line of goods. The store recently moved to the location and in the change a complete new stock of merchandise was placed on the shelves.

A step across the alley would bring the buyer to the Reliance Title company at 213, and here he would find all services connected with the establishment of titles and transferring of property.

While fronting on Fourth street, the Mateer Drug store has a side entrance of Broadway, making the store available to the marketer on Broadway. Mateer is preparing to move his drug store to 309 North Main street about July 1, to make room for alterations that will be necessary to adapt the corner room to the use of Vandermast, Inc., which will open there about August 1 with a new stock of men's furnishings.

On the opposite side of the street, the Parson Drug store has a Broadway entrance and here the buyer would be supplied with anything in the drug store line that he might desire.

Continuing south on the west side of the street, the shopper next would encounter Robert Gerwing's tire and radio shop. Gerwing has been selling tires here for a long time and radios since they became almost a household necessity. His number is 312.

The Broadway Dugout is at 310½, and is located in a basement. Pool and billiards are the line.

Money Loaned

The Western Building and Loan is doing business at 319 and the company is engaged in loaning money—and paying interest on money—for homes, etc., as its name would indicate.

Pictures and art work are always appropriate for a home and in the Summer shop, at 308, the buyer would find a line of merchandise that would be appealing.

The entrance to the Broadway apartments is numbered 306½. The apartments are upstairs.

The room at 306 is occupied by a number of real estate firms, including Asa Hoffman, Floyd Coady, E. A. White, N. E. Wray, F. R. Pittner and George Ray. The Santa Ana Termite company also has an office in this room.

They say that in the Home cafe, at 304, good eats are served—and who does not enjoy a good meal?

The Wilmax land company is the subdivider of Santa Ana Gardens and it maintains its offices at 302. Complete information on community developing in Santa Ana Gardens is obtainable here. The Preston Radio company holds down the corner room at Third and Broadway, number 300 North Broadway. The firm has been doing business in Santa Ana for many years and but recently moved to the corner, where it has every facility for operation of a good radio store.

Leaving the block between Third and Fourth and going to the one between Fourth and Fifth, the buyer would step into the downtown offices of the Southern Pacific Railway company if he were contemplating a distant trip. The office is on the northeast corner of Fourth and Broadway.

Candyland for Sweets
Following up the street on the east side he would run into Candyland for Sweets.

In the General Electric Refrigerator the temperature is kept several degrees below fifty...always! Fifty degrees is accepted by scientists as the "danger point" in the preservation of food. When the temperature rises even a degree or two above that, bacteria multiply, foods become unsafe to eat.

Countless superiorities give the General Electric Refrigerator its outstanding position...an hermetically sealed, dust-proof mechanism, mounted on top...an accessible temperature control...a new standard of quiet operation...no oiling...no troublesome machinery...simplified installation...no radio interference...an unequalled two-year service guarantee.

Passing the latter point, the Peek market at 409 would be of decided interest if he wanted a good steak. He also could get his supply of vegetables here.

The Bouquet shop, which is located next to the Peek market, also bears the same street number, 409. The name indicates the business of the shop. Here it pany has an office in the same building and does a general real estate business.

Madame Marie Louise's shop, long recognized here as a place where women may purchase the highest class hats for women, is located at 419, the room she occupies cornering on Fifth street.

Going back to the west side of the street in this block, the man requiring bank accommodations would find in the Farmers and Merchants' Savings bank, on the Fourth street corner, prepared to extend every courtesy and service

MONTGOMERY WARD AND COMPANY STRUCTURE

The Montgomery Ward and company building at the southwest corner of Broadway and Second street was occupied last year. It is two stories in height; the entire building being occupied by the firm.

expected of a financial institution of its type.

Rooms for Transients Broadway rooms, at 402 1/2, offer transients accommodations at moderate costs.

The Broadway Barber shop, the Adams cigar stand and the "shinerium" offer opportunity for a man to supply his wants in these lines without leaving the location.

The Blue Parrot Sweet Shop is at 414 and it is possible for one to refresh himself with soft drink or to satisfy his hunger if he craves something dainty and palatable.

The Yost Broadway is next, at 416—the reputation of this amusement house is too well known to require comment here.

Insurance and Orange groves—these are what C. E. Dessery and John Wheeler deal in at 418. The men are not in partnership, however, each having his individual business.

During these warm days one thinks of ice and refrigeration and the William LeVecke company, at 420, handles the General Electric line of refrigeration equipment.

Katherine's, at 422, completes the list of business establishments on this side of the street and, so far as this story is concerned, the block. Katherine's a comparatively new store on the street, has built up a good volume of business in women's clothing.

R. B. Newcom is dispensing garden seed, chicken supplies and hay and grain at 502-4 North Broadway, being the first business on the west side of the street in the block between Fifth and Sixth streets.

N. B. Gohlson is his neighbor at 508. Gohlson has just established himself here as county distributor for the Stutz and Black Hawk lines of automobiles—and he says he has the best merchandise of this type on the market.

Elmer Heldt "rules the roost" at 510, where the Auto Club of Southern California maintains its Santa Ana branch.

Smith and Tuttle, morticians, are located next, occupying the southwest corner of Sixth and Broadway with their large funeral establishment.

Another Auto Agency

On the opposite side of the street, and also on a corner, the southeast, is the automobile agency of J. E. Headley. This is the home of the Oldsmobile line and Headley is just as enthusiastic as Gohlson in his declaration that the Oldsmobile is the best piece of merchandise in its price class.

The W. A. Patterson certified car market is at 511.

The Southern Gasoline Stations, Inc., dispensing Standard products, is at 501, the northeast corner of Broadway and Fifth.

St. Ann's Inn is the last business establishment to the north. The Inn is one of the most ideally located hotels in the Southland and the accommodations, the yard and the scenery around the hotel call forth the highest praise of tourists who stop there.

LIVES OF FOUR FIANCES TAKEN BY TRAGEDIES

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., June 24.—(UP)—Death has four times thwarted Miss Madge Gunner, a governess in this city, of becoming a wife.

After the death of her fourth fiance, just two days before the wedding day, Miss Gunner forever renounced the idea of marriage.

"This succession of love tragedies started during the war when Miss Gunner became engaged to a young officer. On the night he was to have left the front line trenches to come home to her, he was killed by a rifle grenade.

"My next fiance," Miss Gunner said in an interview, "was an airman. He was killed in a crash on the Saturday before the Monday on which we were to have been married.

"Four years later I became engaged to an engineer. Two days before our wedding we had lunch together. He left me at the end of the meal to inspect a building under construction. He was killed by a crane."

Additional sorrows have come into Miss Gunner's life during the of 353.6 seconds, held by Robert Jaros, Chicago.

In the outdoor event the unofficial record of 12 minutes and two seconds, made in Santa Ana by Dale Rose, was not touched. The official world's record of 10 minutes and 14 seconds was broken, however, by Donald Burnham, West Lafayette, Ind., whose plane flew for 10 minutes and 30 seconds. Burnham won a trip to Europe. Today's contests were to decide the winner of the indoor contest. The scale model contest was won by Louis Proctor, Vancouver, Wash.

Rose and Livesey left Santa Ana June 15, their expenses being paid by the Register. Rose was winner of the indoor elimination contest here, his plane flying for one minute and 34 seconds. On a later attempt outside it flew for 12 minutes and two seconds. Livesey won the outdoor contest here, his plane flying one minute and 25 seconds under trying weather conditions.

HIS VACATION IS 'SHOOTING' OF OIL WELLS

WINK, Texas, June 24.—(UP)—Handling nitroglycerin and setting it off in oil wells is the dangerous vacation of Jimmy Dailey, 40, white-haired, and fearless. Wells which won't flow automatically need "a shot." Jim and his explosives do the work.

Jimmy has shot wells in most all of the Oklahoma and Texas oil fields, but right now his job is in the Wink field of West Texas where high rock pressure of the gas is liable to blow the nitroglycerin shell out of the hole.

In the Wink field, the nitroglycerin is kept in 10-quart cans in a reservoir about three miles out of the mushroom oil town of Wink. It is protected by bold warning signs.

Jim's job requires that he place the nitroglycerin—"soup" he calls it—in felted apartments in his car, and haul it to the well. Then he must lift the "soup" out of the car and pour it into shells, usually four inches in diameter and eight feet long.

After the shell is let down into the hole, the explosive is set off by various methods, often by time bombs.

While handling the nitroglycerin, Jimmy is ready constantly to "meet his Maker." Some of the accidents he has experienced are explanatory of why well shooters do not live long.

In shooting 1000 wells, Jimmy's worst accident occurred in the Ranger field of Texas. A shell went off prematurely, blowing up

Both boys are being entertained royally in Detroit, staying at the Hotel Statler and being guests at banquets provided for the entertainment of the contestants. One banquet at the Ford airport was given by Edsel Ford. On their return the boys will stop at Orleans and McCook, Neb., where they will visit friends and relatives.

the entire well. Jim said he wasn't hurt badly.

There is always the danger of the well flowing spontaneously without use of explosives. If this happens when the shell is in the hole, it flows out with the oil and often has its course stopped by hitting a beam or other object. When this happens, a tornado might better have struck. Jimmy once climbed to the top of a derrick stool as the oil started to flow and caught the 70 pound shell as it appeared at the surface.

Twice Jim has overturned his automobile when it contained nitroglycerin. It didn't explode. And

Jim keeps the same motto, "Drive fast and get there."

Jim's salary, $300 a month, is paid by the torpedo company for which he works.

Despite constant danger of death, Jim's closest shave came last Christmas when a group of oil field rowdies began shooting up his little home. Five bullets from an automatic went three inches over his head. For once Jim was glad he was a runt. Five feet two inches is his size.

Even superstitions don't stop Jim in his work.

"Black cats don't worry me. Friday the thirteenth is all the bunk," he has told many a wary friend.

Nine Varsity Crews Await Poughkeepsie Classic

GOLDEN BEARS SET TO DEFEND ROWING TITLE

BY WILLIAM J. DUNN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 24.—While 22 college crews, including nine of the greatest varsity rowers ever gathered on the Hudson, awaited the call to battle over the four-mile stretch of gleaming river this afternoon, storm clouds brought a threat of rain by race time and frowns of worry to the brows of thousands of spectators pouring into Poughkeepsie.

Shortly after noon, the weather prediction was for occasional showers during the afternoon, although a hot sun beat down on the little boat houses along the West shore where the oarsmen rested.

It seemed probable that more than 100,000 persons were here for the races and it was impossible to estimate how many more might take their places along the sloping banks of the river before the freshmen crews rowed two miles in the first of the three contests, at 5 p. m., eastern standard time.

At the Vassar College Alumni house or the edge of the city the California crew rested before the race, ready to defend the championship it won by half a length last year from the Columbia university eight.

Columbia is favorite, remained in quarters near the starting point, up the river at Krum's Elbow, prepared for a valiant attempt to regain honors won in 1927 over this same course.

The other seven crews, Cornell, Washington, Navy, Syracuse, Massachusetts Tech, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania stayed in the seclusion of their respective quarters, reserving every ounce of energy for the grim struggle at twilight.

Everyone here expected one of the greatest varsity races in the history of the I.R.A. championships. The fact that Columbia was the favorite with California a close second in the betting blinded no one to the possibilities of such sights as the Navy, Washington and Cornell.

In four early season regattas and on the strength of its powerful, smooth stroke and expert oarsmanship, California was rated highly because its crew, too, was undefeated, and because of the rugged strength apparent behind every sweep of the Golden Bears' oars.

Navy Much Improved
The Navy, however, has shown more improvement than any other crew since its arrival here, admitting that it was far from being a well developed eight when it reached Poughkeepsie.

Cornell sent to the starting line its greatest crew since 1915, the last year the Ithaca school triumphed here. Coach Jim Wray was confident his crew would win and Cornell ranked undoubtedly among the outstanding "dark horses."

Washington lost to California on the coast in a shorter race than the one today but showed consistent improvement since that time, having stopped off and beaten Wisconsin on the way east, and was greatly feared.

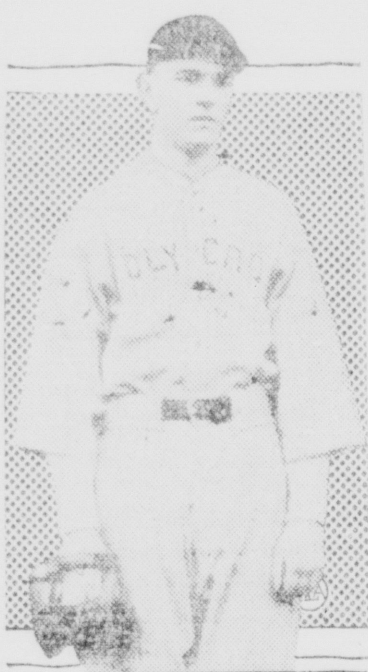

M. I. T. here for its first Poughkeepsie race, has been hit by illness and Tech's chances were rated very low.

The other boats, Syracuse, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania, appeared out of the running very definitely. The latter had the lightest crew on the river along the varsity eight and "Rusty" Callow, coach, admitted his men lacked the power to compete with the favorites.

The first race, a two-mile freshman affair, starts at 5 p. m., followed by the three-mile junior varsity contest and the four-mile varsity battle, at 6 and 7.

JOINS YANKEES

"Bots" Nikola, star Holy Cross college southpaw, has joined the New York Yankees. It developed that the American leaguers had him under contract since he was in high school. Nikola pitched two no-hit games this year, and in a pre-season game gave the Boston Braves only one run in six innings.

MACKS, YANKS RENEW SERIES NEXT THURSDAY

NEW YORK, June 24.—Apparently stymied in their effort to win their fourth straight pennant, the once all-conquering Yankees were marking time today pending the opening of their three-game series starting in Philadelphia Thursday when they will make one more try to cut into the lead of the triumphant Athletics.

They will need to make a clean sweep of this series to get back in the running for the series, which closed here yesterday when the A's won the fifth and deciding game, saw the Mackmen increase their lead from 7-1-2 to 8-1-2 games.

Winning the final game of the series Sunday, 7 to 4, the Athletics took the series, three games to two, and left New York with a longer lead than they had when they arrived at Yankee stadium Friday.

The three-day series, with double-headers Friday and Saturday broke all attendance records. A total of 184,094 persons saw the five games, eclipsing the number—177,132—which saw the September series between the same two clubs last year.

Al Simmons, Athletics' left fielder, proved the star of the series. In the five games he made 13 hits, drove in 9 runs and compiled a batting average of .519. He hit four home runs, one triple and three doubles.

HUNTINGTON BEACH GOLF LINKS LIKELY
Possibility that Huntington Beach will establish nine-hole golf course for the use of local citizens who indulge in the sport loomed today with the announcement that negotiations are under way with the Huntington Beach company for the use of the organization's property located immediately west of the elementary school, and just across Seventeenth street. The proposed site is familiarly known to local residents as "Lover's Lane."

Several all companies and civic organizations have announced their willingness to assist in the financing of the venture. Fred Brooks, high school manual training instructor, supervised the surveying of the site by three high school students, Glenn Cameron, Woody Mandeville and Fred Brooks.

According to local golf enthusiasts the location would be an ideal one so far as golfing conditions are concerned and is within walking distance of any portion of Huntington Beach.

BURNS GOES
Just a few years ago George Burns, first baseman for the Cleveland Indians, was voted the most valuable player in the American league. Recently he was released by the New York Yankees and no other team went after him.

SIXTY-ONE TEN-YEAR MEN
There are 61 players in the major leagues who are 10-year men. The notable reductions from last year's list were Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker.

MARATHON RUN TO PLACENTIA BEGINS IN S. A.

A Santa Ana-to-Placentia marathon, sponsored by the merchants' division of the Placentia chamber of commerce and directed by Charles Lee, wealthy Placentia-Fullerton oranges grower, will be run Friday, June 28. The distance will be approximately 15 miles.

Open to any high school boy in Orange county, the race has the cooperation of Coach Stewart White of Orange high school, Coach "Shorty" Smith of Brea, Coach Lewis of Fullerton, Coach Sheue of Huntington Beach, Coach Bill Cole of Tustin and Coach "Tex" Oliver of Santa Ana.

All these cities are expected to enter from five to ten athletes who will start from the courthouse here at 4:30 p. m. and be preceded by a squad of motorcycle officers to Anaheim where a 15-minute rest will be made. A 10-minute stop will be made at Fullerton before the last lap of three miles to Placentia where the winner will be presented with a beautiful $50 silver loving cup. The second and third men also will receive a trophy.

Contestants are asked to be at the court house in Santa Ana by 4 o'clock Friday. The race will be officially started by Coach Oliver of Santa Ana, assisted by the mayor of Santa Ana and the sports editor of the Santa Ana Register. The boys will be checked in at Anaheim by Jimmie Heffron of The Bulletin, the mayor of Anaheim and Geo. Reed, secretary of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce.

At Placentia the judges will be William Schumacher, Nelson Edwards, Ted Craig, A. S. Bradford and Chas. E. Lee. The official referees will be Stewart White of Orange and Bill Cole of Tustin.

Hill Sets Pace For Batters On Santa Ana Club

The young fellow who thought he couldn't do anything but hunt until this season is setting a torrid pace for the other members of the Santa Ana Star baseball squad.

"Memphis" Hill, shortstop, jumped well ahead of his colleagues last week by belting out five hits in nine chances. His season average is now .425 and his percentage for league contests is .457. Furthermore, many of his bingles have been real and timely ones.

"Rosey" Merrill went into second place for the season and for league games also, displacing Darwin Scott, who is a close third.

HITS AND SLIDES Henry L. Farrell

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Jimmy Dykes of the Athletics is a member of the volunteer fire department at Oakmont, Pa. . . . And he is the father of two boys. . . . Jimmy, Jr., 7 and Charley, 6. . . . And the old man is teaching them to be ball players. . . . "Pop" Glendon, the veteran Navy rowing coach, was asked what his crew would do at the Poughkeepsie championships. . . . He gave a swell answer. . . . He answered—"No." . . . Miller Huggins, who is just as talkative, was asked about "Bots" Nikola, the sensational Holy Cross college pitcher, who has been signed by the Yankees. . . . And he answered—"They say the boy is good." . . . Martha Norrell in private life is Mrs. Wirt McCallister. . . . And her provider and spouse is the head clerk in the swellest hostelry in White Sulphur Springs. . . . Sam Byrd, who is pinch hitting for the Babe, is getting a big following in the stands that are known as Ruthville. . . . In the Yankee stadium.

WHAT'LL YOU DO THEN?
Al Simmons said a few days ago that the Athletics would be in by that fateful Fourth of July when the real class of the teams by legend is known.

Simmons said the strain would be on the Yankees all season. And that the strain was on the Athletics last year. But he didn't explain that it would not be a strain on the Athletics if they blow a 12-game lead late in the season as the Yankees did last year.

HELP HIM OUT, BOYS!
Art Shires, first baseman for the Chicago White Sox, boasts that he wears the biggest chew of eating tobacco in the big leagues. He also boasts the largest wardrobe in baseball and he has a cane and a pair of spurs to match each one of his 12 suits.

He was asked recently for his opinion about baseball and he told his interviewer that what was wrong with baseball was that there were too many sissies in the game and that he liked to have at least two fights a week.

Maybe he'll get 'em when the ball players read the interview.

JOE SEWELL BETRAYED
Shires' just euphemism in the league but he talks like a senior and he may get away with it. Cissell, the Sox shortstop, made some similar cracks last year that he regretted. He was just up from the minors and he said that American league pitching was easier to hit than the pitching in the minors. And his batting average fell down to nothing.

The older ball players don't like to boast. Joe Sewell of Cleveland, recently told a college friend that third base was a cinch to play. Much easier than short.

"But don't tell that," he said. "Or everyone of them will be dumping them down at me or slaming them in my chest."

The Yankees are known as tough guys in a pinch. The Athletics are not on record as money

MIKE MTIGUE, NOW RETIRED, LEARNED HOW TO FIGHT AT 40 BUT TOO LATE FOR OWN GOOD

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, June 24.—Jimmy Johnston, astute little manager, was talking recently of the merits of Mike McTigue, whose retirement from the ring was announced last week.

"He was one of the most grateful fighters, and one of the smartest, that I ever knew," said Jimmy, who managed the Irish light heavyweight towards the end of Mike's long ring career. "He was also one of the best of all the light heavyweights, but he found himself too late."

Mike, you see, is 45 years old and had seen more than two score years before suddenly discovering that he could fight.

Many a fight fan has groaned with dismay as the old Irishman ranked a champion of the world, stalled through a dull bout, defending himself with uncanny cleverness but taking never a chance and making no effort to flatten his opponent.

Became Offensive Fighter
McTigue was over 40 years old when something brought about an extraordinary change in his ring technique. He had lost the 175-pound title. His brittle hands had been reinforced once more with silver. He had been knocked out ingenuously by Jack Delaney. Mike seemed destined for an early retirement.

But the fire burning inside

McTigue always resented his loss of the light heavyweight title to Paul Berlenbach, the dull witted Astoria Dutchman. Perhaps it was just because Berlenbach was so far his inferior mentally that Mike took his defeat by the "Astoria Assassin" to heart.

Taunted His Conqueror
Berlenbach packed a devastating left hook to the body which for a time wore down all opposition. It had worn down the aging McTigue and taken his title. Of the two Paul was considered the "man-killer," Mike the exponent of the manly art of self-defense.

The Irishman never lost an opportunity to taunt his conqueror in public.

"So that's the man-killer," he would say audibly when near Berlenbach. "Why, I could knock him out in a round."

Those who had known Mike as a cautious defensive fighter who seldom struck a blow on his own behalf thought he was bluffing, and that he was through. Berlenbach figured to break McTigue in two if ever they met again.

Thought Of It Too Late
McTigue goaded Berlenbach into meeting him again, and produce the greatest surprise ring fans had in many a day. The old Celtic stepped into the ring that night a devastating "man-killer" on his own behalf. Against the husky youngster who was little more than half his age, Mike looked pale and fragile that night.

No sooner had the bell sounded for the opening round than McTigue flew at Berlenbach. A rain of blows such as Mike never before had unleashed in public beat Berlenbach to the canvas. Left-right, slam-bang, McTigue let everything fly with the enthusiasm of a preliminary fighter. Berlenbach was a badly whipped boxer when they dragged him out of his corner.

But Mike thought of it too late. He made one or two more good fights and then was through, conquered by time rather than any opponent of his weight.

SCHMELING AND PAOLINO TAPER OFF RING TOIL

BY BILL CORUM
(I.N.S. Special Correspondent)

LAKEWOOD, N. J., June 24.—The sooner the better for Max Schmeling now. The hard-punching German heavyweight is as good as he ever will be and what work he does between now and Thursday night when he steps into the ring with Paulino at the Yankee stadium will be simply to keep his present fine edge.

That his handlers realize he is trained to the minute was proved by the fact that they called off the workout scheduled for this afternoon and sent Max out to try his hand at golf.

Both Paulino and Schmeling took up golf when they went into training for this fight and well for they did, otherwise, they would have been hard put to find a way to spend their leisure time. Max will shoot 15 holes on the empty Lakewood course this afternoon in an effort to improve his best previous score of 122.

It was so hot during yesterday's brief work-out that two women in the crowd fainted. But the black Ulian cut loose with plenty of stuff for three rounds. After that he was under a pull and contented himself with boxing against Marty Gallagher and George Nerón.

Max will spar tomorrow. His workout Wednesday will be light and snappy and on Thursday morning, bright and early, he will motor into New York for the weighing in. Then we shall see what he shall see.

PAULINO WILL BE AT BEST WEIGHT

HOOBICK FALLS, N. Y., June 24.—Your old friend, Paulino of the Pyrenees, is sharpening up his fighting tools today and putting a final edge on them for 15 rounds of hacking at Max Schmeling next Thursday night at the Yankee stadium.

After nearly a month of heavy hauling, tugging and mauling with his sparring partners in his leafy bower on the beautiful Elmhurst farm, the Basque brawler has laid aside his big 20-ounce gloves and for the next three days will charge his batteries by doing just enough work to keep his massive frame well oiled.

Paulino is going down to the milk run battlefield at his best fighting weight and in the best condition he has been in for a year. He has never before trained so thoroughly for a fight because it is the first time he has been on public exhibition continuously before one of his important engagements.

If anything he is a little too fine, but by Thursday he should be just right, according to Paul Arthur and Bertys Terry, who declare the woodchopper has come down to the last week in splendid physical and mental condition.

W. W. (Bill) Foote, one up, was first in Class B. B. Z. McKim, G. A. Oliver, H. B. Rapp and M. Rosson all were one down.

La Barba Favored Over Earl Mastro

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—Fidel La Barba will be a slight favorite over Earl Mastro, Chicago Italian, when they enter the Olympic auditorium ring tomorrow night for their 10-round bout at 123 pounds.

The winner probably will be signed by Jack Dempsey for a shot at Kid Chocolate in Chicago, October 1.

WIN TEN TITLES
North Carolina university teams won 10 titles during the past season. They won the Southern conference championship in boxing and cross-country, the Tri-state league championship in baseball, and the state championships in football, basketball, boxing, track, tennis (singles and doubles) and golf.

HE GRADUATES

Remember him? He's George Wuestling (pronounced Wuestling) who trained in Santa Ana this spring with the Portland Beavers. He's been sold to the Detroit Tigers and is playing regularly at shortstop. Wuestling was one of the Portland players injured in the accident near San Clemente that snuffed out the life of Denny Williams, outfielder.

STARS WILL BE IDLE TONIGHT, ACTIVE FRIDAY

Unable to make connections with any of the fast American league night baseball clubs which are knee-deep in the most fascinating pennant race in their history, Santa Ana's Stars, conquerors of Anaheim and leaders of the Orange County league, will be idle tonight and the Bowl at Sixth and Olive street will be "dark."

There will be games here every other "business" evening this week, however. City league teams will provide entertainment Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and the Stars will swing back into conference competition Friday against Huntington Beach, which has not appeared here yet this summer.

John Wilcox, business director of the Stars, is finding it increasingly difficult to schedule exhibition contests for the champions. Teams like Riverdale, Arlington, Pomona, Corona, Calton, March Field and Whittier in the American league play two league games a week and are loath to undertake a third for fear of overworking their pitchers.

When they do agree to an outside joust, they usually rely on a third string pitcher like Whittier did here two weeks ago.

Interest is beginning to "steam up" in the City league which has only two more weeks to go before the championship of the first half of the split season is determined. The Tiernan Typewriter company, leading with three victories and no defeats, meets the Earl Lumbermen tomorrow in the week's feature. The Kinslow Sportsmen meet the Hawley Sportsmen Wednesday, and the El Corralis collide with the Santa Ana Ice company Thursday.

If the Stars are able to knock off the Tiernans Tuesday, the race will be a wide open one with every club in the league except the Ice-men, who have dropped three straight, having a good chance to sneak through to the wire first.

Miss Collett And Partner Defeated

DEL MONTE, June 24.—In an informal match over the Pebble Beach course, Glenna Collett women's national champion and Marion Hollins, lost 2 and 1 yesterday to Paul Hunter, former California amateur titlist, and F. C. Stevens, Jr., runner-up in the recent state championships.

Jack Renault, a few years ago one of the foremost heavyweights, has slipped during the last year and is now fighting for the smaller clubs around Manhattan.

TUNNEY DENIES WOMAN'S BALM CASE CHARGES

NEW YORK, June 24.—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, through his counsel today filed general denial of the breach of promise charges brought against him by Katherine King Fogarty and made a cross complaint based on the fact that twice Tunney had given "valuable consideration" to have the charges dropped.

On two different occasions, according to the answer and cross complaint filed in the Fairfield, Conn., county court by Attorney Homer S. Cummings, Tunney gave cash consideration to the complainant to prevent renewal of her charges.

One of the occasions was said to have been before his second fight with Jack Dempsey and the other before his fight with Tom Heeney, the last fight Tunney engaged in.

Claims Released
The first release, according to the complaint, was "for and in consideration of the sum of one dollar lawful money of the United States of America to me in hand paid by James J. Tunney."

The second release, the complaint said, was in consideration of $25,000 paid by William Gibson, Tunney's manager.

The denial of the suit is based on three clauses:
1. The defendant denies the truth of the suit.
2. On May 25, 1927, the plaintiff for a "valuable consideration" gave Tunney a release discharging any and all claims.

3. On July 24, 1928, the plaintiff again for a "valuable consideration" gave a release under seal discharging all claims.

Asks Injunctions
The cross complaint asks that Mrs. Fogarty be enjoined from prosecuting and continuing to prosecute the action already begun against the retired heavyweight champion in the Connecticut court.

The cross complaint states that after Tunney had won the heavyweight championship from Jack Dempsey, there was a demand from public and press for a return engagement between the two.

"During such time," the complaint says, "the defendant was engaged in a fight with Tom Heeney, the last fight Tunney engaged in."

SEALS ONLY THREE GAMES BEHIND REDS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—Bringing to a close the most bitterly contested series of the season, in which all attendance records were broken in San Francisco, the Mission Reds and the Seals split a double bill yesterday making the final count for the week 4 and 3 in favor of the Seals.

Brilliant pitching by Harry Krause enabled the Reds to shut out the Seals 6 to 0 in the morning game, but San Francisco came back in the afternoon to pound out 15 hits and a 6 to 5 win, to bring them within three games of the league leaders again.

Oakland, the third place team, moved closer to the top by taking both ends of a double-headed from Seattle, 4 to 1 and 6 to 4. The Oaks came from behind to win in both games, making the series 5 and 2.

plaint says, "Katherine King Fogarty, well knowing the premises aforesaid, threatened to bring against the defendant baseless claims of an alleged promise to marry her and to give wide publicity to the same unless he should pay her to refrain from the execution of such threats."

BIG HALIBUT IS CAUGHT BY L. A. BOY FROM PIER

NEWPORT BEACH, June 24.—Eddie King, youthful fisherman residing at 204 Lucas avenue, Los Angeles, holds the Newport pier big-fish championship, after hooking a 42 1/2-pound halibut here yesterday, a nd winning a $5 prize offered by the Balboa Angling club for the day's biggest catch.

Angling experts here state that the 42 1/2-pound specimen was the biggest ever caught at Newport pier, at least for the last five years. Five summers ago a 42-pound halibut was caught at that pier, but King's catch bettered it by half a pound.

Eddie's brother, Jack, caught and 18-pound halibut at the Newport pier yesterday, also, this being one of many big ones taken there during the day.

Pier fishing has been good for several days, both at Newport and Balboa. Yellowfin and corbina have been plentiful at night.

George J. Jones of Balboa island made a notable catch during the week-end. Trawling off Balboa he caught six white sea bass, weighing a total of 66 pounds, the largest 17 pounds and the smallest 9. It was said to be the best white sea bass haul for two years here.

THREE YEARS AGO IN LOCAL SPORTS

JUNE 24, 1926

Three teams were tied in the City Night Baseball league as a result of the victory of Lee's Fountain over the Tienan Typewriter company, 6 to 2 last night. This put Lee's Fountain, Tienans and the P. C. Blauers in the tie. Gene Hitt pitched for the Tienans while Jimmy Mansfield toiled for the Lee's.

The two local teams in the Orange County Night Baseball league, the American Legion and the Chamber of Commerce, meet tomorrow night in a game that will practically decide the championship. The Chamber of Commerce is undefeated and has a good hold on first place but by beating them, the Legionnaires can go into a tie. "Beny" Wilcox will go on the ridge for the American Legion while either Horace Snow or "Tex" Eggman will pitch for the Chamber of Commerce.

Jack Dempsey celebrated his thirty-first birthday. He has held the heavyweight boxing title longer than any one man in the history of the game.

CHANGES UMPs

In a shakeup of the umpiring staff of the International league the other day, Doll Derr and Fred Westervelt were brought into the fold, and Joseph L. Birmingham and William J. Meyers released.

Army loses through graduation this year 78 cadets who have won either major or minor "A's" in 18 different sports. Football and track suffer principal losses.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Board of Directors of the Orange County Development Co.

ANNOUNCE THAT THEY HAVE SECURED THE SERVICES OF

Mr. John Kraft

AS

MANAGER

OF THE PROPERTY OF THE ORANGE COUNTY DEVELOPMENT COMPANY

MR. JOHN KRAFT OF ORANGE COUNTY

Mr. Kraft has been a resident of Orange County for twenty-two years. He has literally grown up in the orange business. He has bought, planted, developed and produced orange groves and has made a real success of his operations. He is by rearing, training and experience exceptionally well qualified to manage the property of this company. He will work directly under the guidance and supervision of the Board of Directors of the Orange County Development Company.

The sale of the securities of the Orange County Development Company is being handled by the Newton Company, Noel Newton, Manager. The Newton Company has no part in the active management of the Orange County Development Company, but simply act as the financing agents for the company.

All the business of the company will be conducted by the Board of Directors. These are men of experience, successful business men and citrus men of Orange County. They are entirely capable of giving the company a careful, efficient and successful management.

DAM BONDS

The question of dam bonds for water conservation and flood control is to be voted on Tuesday. As practical developers of citrus lands this company recognizes the importance of a permanent and plentiful supply of water. We are in favor of any plan that will provide such a supply and help to increase the wealth of this county. Fortunately the water supply already developed on the property of the Orange County Development Co. is not affected by the steadily lowering water levels of the Santa Ana Valley Basin.

Competent engineers declare that the eastern boundary of the Santa Ana Valley Basin runs to the old ranch road at Culver's corners. This is almost two and a half miles south and east of Tustin. The outstanding water wells that have been drilled east and south of this point are producing what engineers term "geological water." The water in the Santa Ana Valley Basin is running water. These small subterranean channels have had their levels lowered by the constant drain of many wells drilled to them.

The "geological water" that has been produced east and south of Culver's Corner does not come from running water channels. It comes as seepage water from the Tejon sandstone which outcrops at the headwaters of Santiago Creek and Trabuco Creek. This insures a constant and plentiful supply. The proof of this statement lies in the fact that wells in the El Toro district producing from the Tejon sandstone show no decrease in water production though they have been producing for years. In fact many of them have increased in water output.

On the property of the Orange County Development Co. which lies in the frostless, windless, El Toro district two fine wells have been drilled and officially tested. These wells produce from the Tejon sandstone and the tests prove conclusively that we have an abundance of water for development of all our property and more.

It will pay you to come into our office and go over this proposition with us. There has been and there is being a great deal of money made in the development of citrus lands. This company is engaged in the development of a tract of exceptionally fine, well located property supplied with an abundance of water. This land has been obtained at a real bargain price. You can share in the profits made through its development.

It costs you nothing to let us show you this property and to explain our tried and proven plan to you. There is no obligation involved and you will be given all the information and shown every courtesy. Call 2595 and let us arrange to take you to the property. You can go at your own convenience, but phone us or come in and arrange a date with us AT ONCE.

SOME people buy "mail order" tires under the impression that they are saving money. Others buy Kelly-Springfields— and don't have to pay any more for them.

Contrary to general belief, Kelly-Springfield tires are not high-priced. Their reputation has given many people the idea that because Kellys are so good they must cost more.

If you'll drop in and see us the next time you are in the neighborhood, we believe you'll be surprised to learn how Kelly prices run.

FINKLE HITS PROponents OF BOND PROJECT

for the proponents of the bond issue whose remarks he declared to be completely misleading to the public. F. C. Finkle, engineer and geologist of the Water Users' association, gave an address before a small group in the American Legion hall, Fullerton, Saturday night.

Finkle spent a part of the evening refuting statements that he declared had been made about his knowledge of engineering matters on such proposition as they proposed Orange county project. He carried the fight in his address to Paul Bailey, county engineer, whom he termed an "engineer completely lacking in experience of dam construction."

Finkle denied statements by H. C. Head that Finkle had been discharged by several committees including the Southern California Edison company.

"When I first saw the report calling for the dam at the lower Prado site, I was amazed to think that anyone would attempt to build a dam at the lower Prado site, especially when the dam could be constructed at the upper site, for eight and one-half to nine million dollars cheaper as well as more safety," Finkle said. "I was also surprised to discover that the board of supervisors hired Paul Bailey who had never had any experience in Southern California or who had never built a dam. With such a man as is proposed at the lower site, I would hate to own property in Orange county because I believe such a dam unsafe and even though my property was not destroyed, the damage done in the county would raise the taxes to such an amount that the property owner would go bankrupt."

"I believe that there is a colored gentleman in the woodpile when they say that the dam cannot be built at the upper Prado site when, as a matter of fact, the dam at the upper site would need to be only 92 feet high while at the lower site it will have to be approximately 135 feet high.

"Orange county is no condition to lose the money which she will lose if the dam is built at the lower site. The wells of the county are over-drawn and the only remedy is water from an outside source, but the dam at the upper Prado site is necessary in order to store the vast amount of water if it can be obtained."

"Recently when Mr. Bailey and I spoke at the Fullerton Lion's club luncheon, Mr. Bailey showed pieces of rock and asked if anyone thought that such rock would not hold a dam. However, these rocks are not in one piece but are broken up in small pieces and mixed with sand and gravel, but Mr. Bailey failed to explain this fact.

"The lower dam site is also near to the sulphur slide which is another reason why the dam should never be attempted at that place. I would hate to be responsible for any dam built at the lower Prado site."

Finkle also attacked Bailey's method of testing the bedrock, saying that he used a churn drill thus being unable to take out a core to really test the formation of bedrock.

"You people have some beautiful public servants to submit to you such a plan as they have presented."

The chairman of the evening was R. H. Lucas, president of the Water Users' association, and other speakers of the evening were James Irvine Jr., who gave his reasons for being opposed to the Lower Prado dam site; E. D. Miller, who gave some figures on the cost of the lower dam; and H. C. Head, who carried the fight in his address to Paul Bailey, county engineer, whom he termed an "engineer completely lacking in experience of dam construction."

OIL RIGS AT H. B. DUE FOR AUCTION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 24.—Delinquency in city and county personal property taxes may mean the sale of 50 rigs within the next two or three weeks, according to C. R. Furr, city clerk and assessor.

Owners of the oil derricks and equipment are being given seven days' time in which to make payment for the assessments on their property. If at the end of the specified time the amount due is not collected, the rigs will be auctioned off and the city and county tax collections deducted from the sale price. The balance of the sale proceeds will be paid to the owners of the derricks provided that the county or city can find trace of the proprietor. In case the owner can not be found the money goes to the county treasury to remain until definite ownership is established.

A complete list of the posted rigs will be placed on the bulletin boards at the chamber of commerce building and the city hall today for the information of the general public. According to Furr it is probable that more than one-half of the rigs will be redeemed before the expiration of the seven-day period set by the authorities.

LEAGUE MEET AT H. B. DRAWS 300 DELEGATES

Huntington Beach was host to more than 300 young people over the week end at the convention of the Epworth league officials of Orange and Riverside counties. The meeting was designated as the Orange-Riverside County Officers' Retreat.

The activities were opened with a ball game at Triangle park between Orange and Riverside counties. Mayor S. R. Bowen officially welcomed the guests to Huntington Beach at a banquet held in the city auditorium Saturday evening. Following the welcoming address by Huntington Beach's mayor and the banquet served in honor of the visiting delegates an interesting program was presented by the young people. Readings by Grace Bundschuh and Norma Young, musical selections by the Huntington Beach Hawaiian quartet, of which Leo Farwell, Roscoe Hensley, Billy Hengood and Leslie Hawthorne are members, vocal selections by the Huntington Boys' quartet, consisting of Harry Ford, Theodore Rycraft, Earl Harris and Norman Ehlers, and a piano solo by Edna Warner were features of the evening entertainment.

At the evening business meeting an address was delivered by Dr. E. G. H. Stevens. Bessie Harris acted as chairman of the session.

The Sunday session was opened Sunday morning at 7 o'clock with a song service and address at the place. J. Wesley Hole, director of the Epworth league and Young People's work of the San Diego district, presented the talk before the assembled delegates.

Departmental conferences were held at the local elementary school beginning at 9 a. m. Dr. J. Lewis Gilles was in charge of the session. District officers who participated in the meetings were A. Ray Moore, first department; Ethel Ristner, second department; John Ashley, third district; and Irwin Engle, fourth district.

The principal address was presented by Dr. J. Lewis Gilles at the morning church services held in the First Methodist church, the Rev. John M. Barnhart officiating.

Following a box lunch at the elementary school the departmental conferences were resumed until 5 p. m. Vesper services concluded the official program for the convention at 8:30 p. m. Dr. Ray Moore addressed the gathering of young people at the afternoon service.

Officials of the Epworth league pronounced the retreat one of the most successful ever staged and extended a cordial vote of thanks to the city of Huntington Beach for the reception and entertainment during the short stay. Russell Bailey was in charge of the housing for the visitors.

Officials of the San Diego district who attended the convention were Bessie Harris, president; Boone Kirks, first vice president; Grace Bundschuh, second vice president; Gilda Fidler, third vice president; Norma Young, fourth vice president; Roy Ford, secretary; Verna Garton, treasurer; Frances Thompson, assistant secretary; Ray Bond, publicity manager; Agnes Steward, Life Work secretary; Clara Worrall, Orange county president; Horace Veith, Riverside county president; and Harry A. McPheeters, San Diego county president.

PASTOR TAKES 'MISSING' FOR TOPIC SUNDAY

"And thou shalt be missed, because thy seat shall be empty," provided the text, and "Missing," the topic for the morning sermon of the Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Church of the Messiah, yesterday.

"A feast had been prepared in Israel but because of the enmity of Saul, David was not to be there," Hatter said. "He would be missing. The meaning of that word, the sorrows that lay behind it, was brought vividly to my mind as a boy," when I read the posters upon the doors of the police stations in London with the word 'Missing' at the top. Followed a description of the man, woman, boy or girl who had gone. Later I grew to know the full meaning of the tragic word when at the war memorial in Belgium. I saw the thousands of names of the soldiers of the allies who were missing.

"But there were others in that strife who were missing too. When the call came to the colors they were not there, they were missing. They were lacking in courage. In every plane of life there are the missing ones. Away from home, missing. Bringing real heartaches to those who love them. True there are empty chairs when a dear one goes on before, but the wonderful example they set remains to influence others. In the community there are many missing. We are related to each other in community service. We owe a duty to this community. We should do our duty. As a community we are lax in our civic duties and privileges. Many are always missing from the polls and when the greater issue of the nation arise they are still 'missing.' What an example the little town of Ramona sets with 95 per cent of its citizens exercising their right and privilege of franchise at the polls.

"When the issue of Tuesday is before you do not be among the 'Missing.' Go to the polls, say yes or no, but say it. The question affects the whole community. I care not how you vote, but vote.

The young people who have just left the schools and colleges are facing a new life in the world. Do not leave the influences of the school and college life behind. Many a time you will wish you could go back, but your place will be empty. You can, however, bring honor to that institution from which you will be missed. Do not be lost in the crowd.

"In the church many are missing, there are empty seats. Some are never found in the house of God. What an example to set to the children. To be in your places in God's house is a duty you owe to God. Suppose God adopted the same attitude in regard to His daily mercies and blessings toward you as you do toward Him and His house. Many are habitually missing from church yet they expect the building to be here, the minister to be in his place and the services at his disposal when needed. They do not contribute anything to the church financially, but they certainly expect the church to be open and services as usual.

"In these glorious days of summer I expect you to avail yourselves of the pleasures to be enjoyed in the mountains, at the beach. They are for all to enjoy, but you should do the first thing, first. Be in your places in God's house first, then enjoy His bounteous gifts of beauty. In His eyes do not be among the missing. In His house do not let your seat be empty."

COAT LENGTHS

Looking over the fashion field, coat lengths seem to decide their own fates. But there's a difference between them for the discerning woman.

Very short jackets and boleros are excellent for the very young. Cardigans are for suburban wear, for sports and for utility such as shopping suits.

Finger tip jackets are best for the older or larger woman. Three-quarters coats help short on the tall woman's figure. Long coats slenderize.

MONEY IS NOT HEALTH PASTOR AYS IN TALK

How It Feels To Be a Millionaire was the topic of the sermon, of the Rev. U. E. Erding, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene. Taking for his text, Phil. 4:19, he compared the riches of grace and of the life after.

Riches do not consist of what man has, but in what he is," the minister said. "Money is not health. It is only an exchange of the things loaned to us by our heavenly Father. Every good and perfect gift cometh from God the Father. If He should close His book of blessings to the world our way would be worthless. A man of mine gave me enough man marks to make me a millionaire, but they were worthless, the government was broke.

The two essentials for us all, we cannot buy. That is happiness and a home in heaven. Happiness, being a millionaire, had this to say, "Millions seldom sing or whistle." God has not agreed to supply wants, or they may be child and foolish. But He will supply all we need. I have to decide my children what they need. They had their wants my back would be full of pigeons, goats, dogs and cats, and neighbors would declare me a nuisance.

There are a lot of things you need that you don't want and think you don't need them. Old mother in our log cabin, to hold my nose and give me herbs, for whatever ailed as she would say. I thought I did not need it but she knew. The God of this text can, and

Retired Minister Preaches Sermon Sunday Morning

Due to the illness of the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, who has been confined to his home since Thursday, the Sunday services at the church yesterday were conducted by members of the congregation.

The Rev. Walter Robb, retired minister and local business man, who is a member of the Christian church congregation, preached on the sermon topic, "Looking Heaveward," at the morning service. The chorus choir, under the direction of E. H. Eisner, assisted at both services and Miss LeVerne Harrell gave a solo selection in the morning. The Rev. F. C. Martin, pastor of the Orange Avenue Christian church, conducted the service in the evening.

MAKES APPEAL IN NEAR EAST RELIEF WORK

Dr. S. S. Sampson, of Huntington Park, gave an earnest appeal for the Near East relief at the First Methodist church of this city yesterday morning. The large chorus choir of the church under the direction of Mrs. Hulda Dietz gave an anthem of appropriate significance entitled, "Send Out Thy Light." The Rev. James H. Hughes, minister of education and assistant pastor of the church, sang a solo.

Commencing a series of nature sermons, Dr. George A. Warner, pastor, talked last night on "The Rainbow." His subject next week will be "Spring." The popular minister said his objective in conducting the nature series at Sunday evening services was "to make our folks as happy at church on Sunday night as they would be if they were fishing." Miss Ruth Oaks, well known Santa Ana musician, played several harp solos as a feature of the service last evening.

It was announced this morning that the Daily Vacation Bible school opened at the church today and ministers are anxious to have many children take advantage of this opportunity to obtain religious education together with interesting play.

Dr. Warner urged members of the Council of Religious Education of the church to meet at the church at 6:30 o'clock and attend the pot-luck supper at Newer park tonight.

WINE TONIC SITUATION IN SANTA ANA HIT BY PASTOR; CITIZENSHIP CASE IS CITED

"Some Things To Think About" was the general topic used by the Rev. Perry F. Schrock in his discussion at the First Congregational church last night. The Rev. Mr. Schrock discussed a number of interesting topics instead of delivering a formal discourse. Among the questions discussed was one relating to the wine-tonic situation in Santa Ana.

"Is the wine-tonic situation serious in Santa Ana?" asked the speaker. "From some things I have heard this past week I have reason to believe that the situation is very much more serious than I had suspected. There have been several indications of this condition.

The first revelation came in the attitude of some of the drug stores. The dispensers of "drugs" seemed quite excited over the possibility of an ordinance that would prohibit the unrestricted sale of wine-tonic. If the business were not large enough to be profitable they would be indifferent to the whole matter. And if the business is large enough to cause the drug stores to be excited then it is large enough to constitute a menace.

"Another indication is the report that comes of the quantities of this stuff that is consumed in the pool halls. I am told that literally boxes are filled with empty bottles during an evening. Another indication is the evidence of service stations. Young people go there to get gasoline and to drink their tonic. The empty bottles are left in the rest rooms. From one station comes the report that more bottles are left in the women's rest rooms than in the men's.

"Get this! Santa Ana young people can get all the booze they want—labeled tonic or extract—at a small price. No parent, or any person interested in young people, can view with complacency the present situation. If our city council is more interested in the few dirty dollars that a few merchants make than it is in the moral welfare of our youth, then it ought to be made to see the light. Passing the buck to the county will not satisfy the moral conscience of this city."

Another question discussed by the Rev. Mr. Schrock had to do

MISSIONARY IN EGYPT SPEAKS IN SANTA ANA

The Rev. W. H. McPeak, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, has been making an extended visit in eastern states. He has been gone five weeks and will return July 14 according to information received here today. The minister has been visiting friends as far east as Pittsburgh and has made several stops at various points of interest enroute.

The Rev. Earl Jamieson, of Benha, Egypt, was the missionary who filled the pulpit at the church yesterday. He had a sermon entitled for the morning service, "The Life Worthwhile of the Gospel," and developed his thought using the life and manhood of Jesus Christ as a fitting example of worthy living. In the evening the Rev. Mr. Jamieson told at length of his experiences as a missionary and how he came to learn the Arabic language. His life for the first year in the home of another missionary who was established on the field was a narrative of interest.

Mrs. Sallie Lee Stables, director of the choir, led the chorus in the morning anthem which was, "Teach Me Thy Way," and sang a solo as the musical feature of the evening entitled, "His Eye is on the Sparrow." She was accompanied at the organ at both services by T. Harry Warner.

CAFE TO OPEN SATURDAY
HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 24.—Grand opening of Huntington Beach's elaborate new cafe has been scheduled for 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon by Harry Bakra, proprietor. The entire building will be thrown open to public inspection for the first time with the opening of the cafe.

Bakra announces that he has secured a 10-piece orchestra for the entertainment of his guests on the opening night. Other entertaining features are being arranged.

'GRACE OF OUR LORD' SUBJECT OF REV. HYLTON

The Rev. Roy P. Hylton, minister at the First Church of the Brethren, spoke yesterday on the subject, "The Grace of Our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ." He said in part:

"There are religious many and there is the Christian religion. Many there be who are zealous religious and there are those who have the spirit of Christ. Religion has been defined as: 'The conscious relation of human beings to their determiner of destiny.' Simply stated the Christian religion is 'The life of God in the heart of man.' Religion is not mere belief in definition and dogmas. It is no trouble to elicit belief but genuine manifestations of Christ-likeness are not so prevalent. Protections

Smith-Taylor Wedding Is Pageant-like In Beauty

Pageant-like in its beauty, the wedding of Miss Hazel Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd B. Smith, 710 South Street, and Richard Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Taylor, 2410 Bonita, was one of the outstanding social events occurring yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The wealth of gladioli, gerberas and greenery which backed the altar, with three fern-embroidered arches framing the organ loft, created a background which was particularly effective for the charming girls of the bridal party in their rainbow-hued costumes.

Music too played a prominent part in the beauty of the service, with Miss Dorothy Hurd at the organ, Alan Beall as pianist, Miss Georgia Belle Walton, violinist, Miss Ruth Oake, harpist, and James H. Hughes, soloist.

Among Mr. Hughes' solos was "Call Me Thine Own," with both piano and organ accompaniment. Miss Walton rendered a Massenet composition, and Miss Oake's choice of harp numbers included "Sons Without Words" by Del Bruck, and Cadman's "At Dawning." Adding to the impressiveness of the marriage service read by the Rev. George Warner, D. D., was the softly muted organ number, "The Way," by MacDowell, played by Miss Hurd.

Mr. Taylor was assisted by his brother, Wilfred Taylor, as best man, with Messrs. Carroll Andrews, John Willets, Jack Snow and John Steinwellen, as ushers. As they assembled at the altar they were joined by the bridesmaids, lovely in their fluttering chiffons, each with satin slippers the exact color of her gown. The charming rainbow effect was achieved by Miss Katherine Kirven, in delicate sea-green; Miss Flora Greenow, in palest yellow; Miss Helen Drake in shell pink; and Miss Pauline

Patio of Pomona Church Setting for Pretty Wedding Service

The marriage of Miss Ruth Emley, daughter of Mrs. Caroline Emley, of La Verne, and Gorman B. Rensberger of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Rensberger of La Verne, was solemnized Saturday night in the patio of the Pilgrim Congregational church, Pomona.

Large baskets of pink gladioli and delphinium arranged against the ivy covered walls made a beautiful background for the bride party that took its place before Dr. Harrison Prantz, field secretary of the Brethren church at La Verne college, who read the dignified service.

Miss Emley was lovely in wedding gown of softly lustrous satin and tulle with her long embroidered veil falling in misty folds from a chaplet of orange blossoms. Her flowers were bride roses and lilies of the valley arranged in shower effect.

Miss Rensberger, sister of the groom, who was maid of honor was gown in pink satin and tulle and she carried a formal bouquet of Cecil Bruner roses. Miss Gladys Larimer was bridesmaid and she wore orchid georgette and carried an immense cluster of orchid sweet peas.

Miss Emley, brother of the groom, was best man, and Harold Hollinger served as usher.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Lloyd Studebaker of La Verne who played the organ and Mrs. William Everhart who sang "O Promise Me" and "At Dawning" with Mrs. Harvey Brubaker presenting the accompaniment.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the patio where wedding loaves and cake were served by a bevy of small maids, in pretty frocked pastel tints.

For an automobile honeymoon, the attractive bride donned a smart ensemble in green and white with accessories to harmonize.

After July 1, Mr. and Mrs. Rensberger will be at home in this city where Mr. Rensberger is connected with the Smith and Tuttle funeral establishment. Mrs. Rensberger is planning to continue her duties as a teacher at the Costa Mesa grammar school. Both young people are graduates of La Verne college.

Popular Local Girl Is Bride of Orange Man

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kent Pollock's home at 1113 West Fifth street was the setting last night for a simple and charming wedding in which a popular Santa Ana girl, Miss Marjorie Pollock, became the bride of Robert Theodore Davidson of Orange.

An altar of pink and white roses and maidenhair fern was arranged against the fireplace which was flanked by graceful baskets of colorful June blossoms and tall pink tapers in crystal holders tied with misty tulle.

The ceremony was preceded by a delightful song program when Miss Florine Pollock, sister of the bride, sang "For You Alone" by Henry E. Geel and "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond with Mrs. Harold Kent Pollock accompanying at the piano. The Lohengrin wedding march and "Song of Love" from "Blossoms Time" as musical background for the ceremony, played by Miss Virginia Pollock of Santa Paula, completed the bridal music.

The bride was gown in ivory chiffon made with snug bodice and bouffant skirt. Her sheer veil was arranged in Queen Anne style and held to her head with a wreath of orange blossoms and pearls. She wore a lovely pearl necklace that had been the gift of Mr. Davidson.

July Bride Is Honored At Delightful Shower

Among the many lovely affairs complimenting Miss Gladys Finuf, who is to marry Ray King July 7, was a china shower given recently at the F. C. Blum house, 1315 Spurgeon street. Hostesses were the daughter of the home, Miss Marjorie Blum, and Miss Mary Dunstan.

Beall-Smiley Bridal Was Function of Much Charm

Blooming with flowers like a mild-summer garden, the United Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon presented one of the fairest scenes imaginable, as a setting wherein Miss Elizabeth Beall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Beall, and R. Deane Smiley, son of Mrs. and Mrs. James A. Smiley, took their wedding vows.

The charm of the decorations reached their height at the altar where a garden effect was given by the use of a white lattice entwined with greenery and glowing with gladioli blossoms in gradations of pink. Preceding the ceremony was an interval of nuptial music with Harry Warner at the organ, Miss Emelene Richards playing the violin, and Miss Mary Henderson and Sally Lee Seales as soloists. The solos were the appropriate "O Promise Me" by Reginald De Koven, sung by Miss Henderson, and Grieg's "I Love You," sung by Mrs. Seales.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin. Mr. Smiley and his best man, Donald Dunbar, joining the Rev. G. N. Greer, former pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church, at the altar to await the bride. The ushers, Andrew Smiley, a brother of the groom, Roderick Smiley, a cousin not only of the bridegroom but of the bride as well, and Solon Beall, brother of the bride, moved down the aisle to join them, and the oval procession continued with the entry of a bevy of beautiful young girls, Miss Beall's attendants.

The pastel tones of their gowns were extremely effective in the waning light of the afternoon. The gowns were fashioned alike, extremely bouffant skirts sweeping low in the back and great side bows in slightly deeper tones than the individual gowns they adorned. Each bridesmaid carried a cluster of pink or orchid sweet peas arranged in shower effect like a bridal bouquet, and each wore the pearls which were Miss Beall's gifts to her attendants. Miss Jane McBurney was in corn-color; Miss Charlotte Harnois in palest green; Miss Mildred Lukens in peach, and Miss Adele Lutz in soft orchid.

Mrs. Clifford Cole who will be remembered as Miss Majory Edmunds, was matron of honor and wore a smart gown of delicate pink, with a silver bandeau encircling her coiffure. Her flowers were pink rosebuds showered with lilies of the valley. She was followed by the flower girl Janet Smiley, tiny daughter of the Andrew Smileys, a fascinating little maid in her airy ruffled frock of yellow crepe de chine, and with an enameled basket filled with rose petals.

Miss Beall, entering on the arm of her father R. W. Beall, by whom she was given in marriage, was a picture of youthful loveliness in her snowy gown of crepe de chine, its lines of utter simplicity, veiled by the cobweb tulle which had adorned Miss Catherine Smiley when she became the bride of Lyle Sherwin of Maywood. The exquisite veil had been secured by its original wearer while she was abroad preceding her marriage. Yesterday's girl-bride carried a great cluster of fragile white orchids with bride roses and a cascade of chintilly lace in which were knotted sprays of lilies of the valley. She later presented the bouquet to her mother.

Adding to the beauty of the marriage service was the fact that the Rev. Mr. Greer had baptized the bride when she was a tiny girl, and furthermore, he and Mrs. Greer (who at the time was Miss Effa Torrens) had been best man and maid of honor at the wedding of her parents a number of years ago. Mrs. Beall was Miss Geraldine McBurney.

Leaving the church to the strains of Mendelssohn, the newly wedded young people eluded their friends at the very doors, with the aid of Cornish Roehm, and left at once on their honeymoon trip northwards, stopping at the home of understanding friends for Mrs. Smiley to don her smart little traveling costume of green and white silk with all harmonizing accessories. Their departure in this manner was unexpected, but close relatives and friends assembled at the Beall home, 601 East Third street, for the reception just the same, to be greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Beall, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smiley, and the members of the bridal party.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Deane Smiley will reside on the ranch home which was among the many beautiful gifts they received.

As Miss Wynne played the first strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, the bride, wearing a becoming gown of white georgette and lace over satin with a long tulle veil worn capwise, entered the room upon the arm of her father who later gave her in marriage. ## The WOMAN'S DAY

ALLENE SUMNER

Harriet Connor Brown, 93, of Santa Ana, is not too old to listen to the tales of olden days, not too interested in the superiority of every-day modern and a little scornful of the worth in the good old days as won fame and fortune.

Atlantic Monthly prize of "for the most interesting play of any kind, sort of drama" has just been awarded Brown for her biography "Grandmother Brown's Years, 1827-1927."

Half a thousand manuscripts were submitted. Napoleon, Gladstone, Disraeli, all the famous figures of the past, were resurrected, of course. But Brown merely picked out an old garden variety little old lady who had lived through the most remarkable hundred years ever known to man.

IMPORTANT YEARS

Grandmother Brown's span of days enfolded all the vital events of the century. She knew the old days of pining Indians, the water to drink. She has lived through the most vital wars in the temperance cause, the Chicago World's Fair, the given grandsons to the World War, the Lindbergh and the Hoover.

biography is not only an account of the things one woman has seen, but in running dialogue preserves her spicy, pungent, human comments on life as it has been.

Let Connor Brown who wins the award be not a daughter and granddaughter, but a daughter of "Grandmother Brown," of Maria D. Brown whose biography it is.

me up town. For five years I suffered with liver and gall bladder. At times the pain in my side was so severe I could not endure it. In spite of the medicines I took to act on my tongue remained coated and I was constantly bilious. I suffered a great deal from indigestion, gas pains and headaches, a terrible burning sensation in my stomach.

though I spent hundreds of dollars trying to regain my health, I was going down hill until I became weak, dizzy and nervous, and hardly dared venture out of my house.

Now for the first time in my life I am not bilious. My nerves are steady and I am no longer bothered with headache. The pains on my right side have disappeared, and I feel so strong and full of energy that it is a pleasure to be out and about.

My digestion is splendid. I eat what I want. I owe it every bit to Sargon the Sargon Soft Mass Pills. I took along with the medicine and there is nothing to it, I can say for them.

rather than those nearest by blood or association to that person.

Many families have been given smoother sailing by the advent of a new in-law opening the entire family's eyes to the interest and charm of one of their members hitherto given little notice or found not at all worthy of attention.

It was a family party held in honor of "Grandmother Brown's" 93rd birthday that her youngest daughter-in-law, the now celebrated author, took the old lady aside and drew her out on the events of her life. Her delight in her "find" made her keep after this delightful source of fact and comment till the book had taken form.

DAWES COMMENTS

Former Vice President Charles Dawes says of the book: "There is a fine picture of the New England character as it reacted 200 years after the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers to a new environment. The book is more than that. It is an epic of American life in the early and later days of the Middle West."

Most of us in this bustling modern day are "too busy to bother with the old folks." We sort of assume that they have nothing for us. But the famous "acres of diamonds" are often lying in the minds and hearts of those figuratively relegated to the chimney corner.

Because she was wise enough to see and hear, Mrs. Herbert D. Brown is $5000 richer and famed as the author of "the most interesting biography."

Pre-Nuptial Shower

Miss Margaret Bonebrake and Miss Ruth Boone were hostesses recently when they gave a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Genelia Morgan who will become the bride of Frank Richardson on June 30. The pretty event took place at the home of Miss Bonebrake's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake, 125 North Main street.

Prizes at the game of "Hearts" played during the evening were won by Miss Thelma Duran and Mrs. Thomas Richardson. A unique necklace fashioned from macaroni was presented to Miss Morgan, and slips of paper concealed in its lengths, told the dainty bride-to-be where to begin a veritable treasure hunt for all sorts of gifts which were concealed about the house.

Refreshments were served at small tables centered with crystal baskets of candies and nuts. The decorations for the home were carried out in summer blossoms in tones of pink and the table appointments were in the same colors.

Those sharing the happy occasion were, the Misses Ruth Shaw, Helen Fullerton, Gladys Stamps, Melva Fletcher, Thelma Duran, Annulla McCullah, Lorraine Ingle, Leola Ingle, Myrtle Park, Eunice Vestal, Iola Windolph, the honoree, Genelia Morgan, Miss Emma Wettlin of Santa Ana, Mrs. J. W. Morgan, Mrs. Boone, Mrs. Thomas Richardson, Mrs. M. Eas, and Mrs. Bonebrake.

Dinner Planned

The members of the American Legion auxiliary have made plans for a covered dish dinner which will be held at the Legion clubhouse on Monday at their regular meeting.

At Beach

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Froster and son Philip and Mr. and Mrs. James Hogan spent several days this week at Balboa Island.

Summer Guests

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Huscroft, East Chapman avenue, are anticipating a visit from a quartet of pretty nieces who will arrive soon from Toronto, and will join the daughters of the Huscrofts home, Miss Anna and Miss Martha, in a number of delightful summer trips and events.

The visitors expected are the Misses Mary, Josephine, Ruth and Dorothy Peters. Miss Mary expects to enter a near-by Southern California college to finish her training for a teacher and Miss Josephine will enter an interior decorating school in Hollywood this fall. The other two girls will return to their home after visiting here.

Parents Here

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Crawford have as their guests, Mrs. Crawford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. McGrew, of El Centro. Mrs. McGrew will remain at her daughter's home all summer while Mr. McGrew expects to leave for the Imperial valley next week.

Musical Tea

The last meeting for the year of the Trinity Guild was held Wednesday with Mrs. John Cassidy presiding and Mrs. Agnes Hill, Mrs. Hatfield Davis and Mrs. Mary C. Bandriff acting as hostesses for the occasion and pouring at the tea hour.

An enjoyable musical program presented included numbers by Miss Mary Hawkins, with Mrs. Lynn Channing as her accompanist, piano solos by Miss Margaret Gregg, baritone solos by Percy Green, a group of songs by Mrs. W. F. Blake and two solos by the Rev. John C. Donnell. Two readings by Miss Neva Fay Gerdes, a pupil of Holly Lash Visel, added variety to the program of musical numbers.

Two Events

Two pretty events were given in Orange last week honoring Miss Catherine Gullick of Santa Paula, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Gullick of this city who was married last evening at the Little Church of the Flowers to William R. Newell of Ventura.

The honor event was a roommate of Miss Helen Gilroy when the two attended the University of California at Los Angeles and Miss Gilroy honored her with a prettily appointed dinner at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Gilroy. Those included in the intimate affair were the bride's sisters, Miss Ruth and Miss Margaret Gullick.

The other event was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lowery with Miss Mary Lowery, the daughter of the house as hostess at a surprise shower.

Children Should Help Choose Clothes

The child who is never allowed to have a word in choosing his clothes has my heartfelt sympathy. It makes me wonder if adults are even a step ahead of the ape in their ability to forget the miseries they themselves suffered when children.

I have never forgotten how humiliated I was at the age of 8, when my mother insisted on my wearing an apron over my pretty school dress, and not another girl in school was wearing one that year... it was real agony and the memory will be one I will carry as long as I live!

What difference does it make if "cords" good and dirty, are the style, or any of the other current dress fads to which children are heir? Let them be as their fellows are in matters of dress, as long as it is not undue and too expensive for the parent.

It is human nature to live in herds and to follow the law of the pack. Look at that side of the question before you decide arbitrarily on what your child shall wear and when.

Five reasons for sugar in the diet

Scientist talks about this healthful food

ONE OF THE great food scientists of the country told us not long ago, "Sugar not only has an important use in the diet of nearly everyone—it has five distinct uses."

"First of all, it is a great conservator of many foods, especially fruits. In the second place, as a flavoring substance, it is most valuable in making nearly all foods much more appetizing. In this way it leads to the eating of a more balanced diet. The third point I would call to your attention about sugar is its value as a satiation factor. Ending a meal with a sweet gives a sense of satisfaction—of having had just enough."

"Perhaps the best known use of sugar is as a staple fuel for keeping the human body active. Sugar is more rapidly digested than starch, and it ranks with starch as a vital food for every normal person."

"The final point about sugar is its adaptability as an emergency fuel. Sugar is rapidly absorbed in the system."

It is always helpful to get the opinion of a recognized authority on any important subject. In a day when food fads are so much in evidence it is a part of wisdom to discover exactly how important sugar is in the diet of all of us.

The sensible way to well-being is to eat all kinds of healthful fresh and canned fruits and vegetables, sweetened to taste. Remember the value of puddings, ice creams, and cakes for dessert. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

WEST COAST-WALKER

A striking case of endowing motion pictures with voice, as well as presenting all underlying ideas in plot, motivation and the very spirit of a play, is to be seen in "The Idle Rich." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's vivid presentation of "White Collars," famous stage play of average family life in a busy city. "The Idle Rich" opened yesterday at the Walker, to packed houses.

The use of street noises and such details for dramatic effects, literally creating a background of sound to convey impressions, was one of the clever touches injected by de Mille. In some cases the outside noises of the city tell almost as much of the story as do the actual words of the dialogue.

It is exceptionally adaptable, Conrad Nagel, whose talking voice has made him famous in many a recent sound picture, is the young millionaire, a serious-minded young fellow with an infinite capacity for simple pleasures, despite his wealth. Leila Hyams is not only very easy to look at, but convincing in the part of the pretty bride. Bessie Love scores heavily as the little flower sister.

Character honors go to James Neft and Elythe Chapman as the father and mother.

Robert Ober, as the revolutionary and radical Cousin Harry, Paul Kruger and others of note are in the cast.

YOST BROADWAY

It's drama time at the Broadway theatre, where "The Girl in the Glass Cage" climaxes a very good bill. Heavy drama at that, but so packed with fine histrionic performances and so well constructed that it does not get too heavy for the spectator.

Loretta Young and Carroll Nye are seen in a love story of a very appealing nature. George Stone, Matthew Betz, Lucien Littlefield, Ralph Lewis, Julia Swayne Gordon and Charles Sellon, with other good players appear in a wide variety of characterizations, all from the heroine's viewpoint, sinister.

A clever basic idea gives the story its title. The heroine's guardian is part-crazed on the subject of the possible shame that might come upon him as a

20,000 Persons Visit Newport Beach On Sunday

BUSINESS OF AUTO CAMP ON BAY INCREASES

NEWPORT BEACH, June 24.—Newport and Balboa played host to about 20,000 people yesterday. It was estimated. Every inch of parking space for many blocks on every side of the business sections in both Newport and Balboa was taken up. Thousands lined the beaches during the morning and afternoon, the ballrooms and other amusement concerns, as well as the boat companies, did their biggest business of the season, as in fact probably every business in town did.

Manager S. L. Hoke of the municipal auto camp stated that he had more auto parties than on July 4 last year, and July 4 is usually the biggest day of the season here. The local auto camp has a location unlike probably any other in Southern California, being on the bay front, between the Newport and Balboa sections of the city.

So great is the demand for space there during the summer that recently, at the recommendation of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce and others, the city council limited the time of any auto party can stay there as two weeks.

The early part of the summer season here has been the best in the history of the city. It is stated. The real estate men are feeling the effect of the general business boom. More than 100 new buildings have been built or started on Balboa island alone since January 1, and great building activity is also forecast for Balboa peninsula, where one owner, A. B. Rousselet, of Santa Ana and Balboa, has sold 65 lots within a month.

500 CARS OF ORANGES SENT EAST IN WEEK

FULLERTON, June 24.—Five hundred cars of Valencia oranges were shipped from the northern Orange county district during the past week, which is believed a new record for this section.

The Northern Orange County Citrus exchange was the largest shipper, sending 350 cars for the week. Dale R. King, manager, said today. One hundred and seventy-five cars were shipped from the Fullerton district, downtown packing houses reporting 144 cars besides 2000 boxes shipped by truck from the American Fruit Growers, Inc., to San Pedro for export by boat.

The American Fruit Growers shipped 15 cars as did the Edgington Fruit company, Mutual Orange Distributors house. The Sierra Madre Fruit company, independent shippers, reported six cars.

Anaheim, Placentia, Yorba Linda, La Habra and Fullerton are included in the northern Orange county figures for the week.

The lemon deal has been particularly good, King said, a peak price of $10.10 being reached in New York with others running $7.50, $8 and $9 at various points and in strong demand. During the week every car of lemons reaching the auction markets was sold as quickly as it arrived, the tracks being cleared of all fruit for the first time in a long period it was said.

ORANGE COUNTY ENGINEERS' ASS'N Indorses The Bond Issue

At the Regular Monthly Meeting of the Orange County Engineers Association, Held at San Clemente, Friday, June 21, the Following Resolution Was Unanimously Adopted:

WHEREAS, On Tuesday, June 25th, the citizens of Orange County vote on a County-wide plan for controlling floods and conserving flood waters; and

WHEREAS, The necessity for controlling floods and conserving flood waters is universally acknowledged throughout Orange County; and

WHEREAS, The plan before the voters has been prepared after due investigation and deliberation and checked by competent and experienced engineers who rank at the top of their profession; and

WHEREAS, The Association of Orange County Engineers has reviewed this plan and find that it is admirably adapted to the needs of Orange County and in their opinion is the best and most economic plan for controlling floods and conserving flood waters in Orange County; and

WHEREAS, For many months prior to the adoption of this plan, its main features were discussed publicly; and

WHEREAS, Subsequent to the adoption of this plan by our Board of Supervisors, a small group of property owners, not all citizens of Orange County, have undertaken to defeat this much-needed public improvement; and

WHEREAS, An unscrupulous campaign of emotional appeal based on overnight engineering reports has been instituted against this plan; and

WHEREAS, The presentation of these reports to the public is replete with misrepresentations of fact, false statements and unwarranted opinion; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED: That the Orange County Engineers' Association reaffirm their complete confidence in the plan as presented to the voters of Orange County and in the skill and integrity of the engineers who devised this plan; and be it further

RESOLVED: That the Orange County Engineers' Association most strongly urges the citizens of Orange County to give their whole-hearted support to the bonds at the polls on June 25th.

The Orange County Engineers' Association includes, almost without exception, every engineer engaged in the practice of his profession in Orange County.

WATER USERS ASSOCIATION,
Gentlemen:

My review of the plan adopted by the Orange County Flood Control District was made principally to determine why the dam on the Santa Ana River is to be located at the lower Prado site near the lower end of the Canyon when it appears in the report that it would cost several million dollars less if located at a more suitable site near Prado seven miles farther up-stream.

It is admitted by all that the upper site is preferable from construction and engineering standpoints. The report of the Chief Engineer, approved by the Board of Consulting Engineers, states: "Topographically, the upper site is the most attractive of all sites in the lower gorge because large capacity can be gained with a dam of low height. The desired capacity of 180,000 acre feet requires a dam only 93 feet high. Other construction features, also, are favorable for reasonable costs and the geologic examination shows that a safe dam may be constructed there."

This is followed by the statement: "A detail examination of conditions at this reservoir site, however, discloses unusual complications of a serious nature that eclipse all other considerations for its use for reservoir purposes." The complications relate to a fear of decreasing the water supply of Orange County by the deposit of silt upon the so-called rising streams in the reservoir basin, and of the litigation arising therefrom. Neither Mr. Bailey's evidence nor my findings reveal an insurmountable reason for spending his figure of $4,126,000 more to build the reservoir at the lower site rather than at the upper site. The sites are seven miles apart and the one proposed in the plan, designated as the Lower Prado, is near Esperanza at the lower end of the Santa Ana Canyon.

There are no indications of any exhaustive study having been made by the District of the presumed effect of the silt deposits in checking the flow from rising streams. Nor has a serious effort been made to plan any device works that would protect all water interests beyond any question of doubt. In case something of the kind should be found necessary, which is very unlikely, a very elaborate and complete drainage system of tiles or open ditches could be built and maintained, or the water even could be gathered in a series of wells up-stream from the dam and pumped to the downstream side at a cost that is insignificant as compared to the money that would be saved by building the dam at the upper or Prado site. Arthur E. Morgan states as a result of his study of the Bailey report: "In my opinion there is absolutely no danger of clogging up such rising streams. The springs would open themselves up again by the same process as that by which filters are flushed to clean them of sediment." He further states that in case of doubt as to the clogging: "It would be comparatively inexpensive and certain protection to tile the region where they occur, and lead the accumulated waters to some sure outlet, possibly through the dam to a free outflow. In that way the water supply from these rising streams could be made surer than it is now, and losses by evaporation could be decreased over what they are now. The whole value of these rising streams would be permanently and definitely increased over what they would be otherwise." Also he states: "The objection is made to the upper site that the land slopes are flatter, there would be more water-soaked land after the emptying of the reservoir. It would be entirely feasible to thoroughly tile the whole reservoir site, and to make it even better in that respect than the lower site, and that work could be done at about 5% of the saving that would come from using the upper site."

The Bailey report in addition to stating that either site would be satisfactory for the reservoir gives $11,802,300 as the estimated cost for the proposed lower reservoir as against only $7,676,200 for the cost if located at the upper site, near Prado, or 65% more. Independent estimates of both reservoirs made in co-operation with other engineers and based upon the District's data substantiate the figure of cost for a satisfactory dam at the Upper Prado Site, but show that a reservoir at the lower site would cost fully double that for one at the upper. The principal elements that add to the District's estimate for the lower dam are:

1—A greater cost per cubic yard of embankment, 50c as against 20c. Officials of the Standard Dredging Company, after two examinations of the dam site, have furnished a written statement available to the Water Users Association that it would cost from 75c to a dollar per cubic yard to place the material by dredging, and that some other method would be cheaper.

2—An allowance must be provided enabling the A. T. & S. F. Ry. to double-track the relocated line at a future date at a cost to them not greater than for double-tracking at its present location.

There is an important item of cost which has not been revealed as a proper credit item to a reservoir at the upper site. The District's estimate of land to be taken is $1,950,000 for land in the proposed lower basin as compared to $3,467,900 for land in the upper basin. However, with its annual character of crops most of the land in the upper or Prado basin would retain its value to a large extent by continuing to produce crops as at present except when flooded at rare intervals. Cultivated lands in the lower basin, on the other hand, are largely not used for annual crops and would become unproductive and almost valueless after the first flooding and killing of fruit trees. Much of the land within the upper basin could be sold, the District retaining easement for flooding, or an original easement for flooding instead of the fee title might, in some instances be sufficient. Such an easement should be less expensive than the acquisition of the fee title.

The wonderful natural beauty of the Santa Ana Canyon would be preserved, a matter of interest to the entire county, if protected by a dam at the Upper Prado site against large floods.

Topographically the Upper Prado Site is superior to the proposed site near the lower end of the Canyon in that it would require but one third the quantity of earth embankment to form the dam. If for any reason it would ever become necessary to enlarge the reservoir it would be more satisfactory and less costly to do so with the dam at the upper site where the depth of water would be only 78 feet as compared to 140 feet for the same capacity of 180,000 acre feet at the lower site.

Mr. R. M. Barnes, Chief Geologist of the Marland Oil Company, and Mr. B. A. Otis of the General Petroleum Corporation, in connection with independent investigations as to oil possibilities, have made exhaustive geological studies of the locality embracing both dam sites. Each has furnished a written opinion to the effect that the Upper Prado is far the more satisfactory of the two sites from the standpoint of safety as affected by proximity to fault lines. The proposed lower site would be near the fault line and upon folds of the Whittier fault while the upper or Prado site is more remote from the nearest fault, the Chino, which is known as a dead fault.

The foregoing statement and opinions are based on a careful study of data contained in the report of Mr. Paul Bailey, Chief Engineer of the District, discussions with able and informed geologists, and several thorough inspections of both dam sites in company with earth-handling contractors and other engineers. In my opinion, the proposed reservoir at the lower site will cost at least $7,000,000 more than a reservoir at the Upper Site.

Respectfully,

Copies of Telegrams

Yellow Springs, Ohio, June 17, 1929.

Mrs. Susanna Bryant,
Los Angeles.

I have received following telegram from Paul Bailey. Mr. Browning, engineer for Irvine Company made the public statement at Santa Ana during campaign for bonds which proposed to build a dam at the Lower Prado site on Santa Ana River that you spent two months in Orange County last summer studying Santa Ana River and that you had rendered an opinion that certain construction features of the lower dam would be faulty and dangerous. Would greatly appreciate telegraphic reply, collect, either verifying or denying this statement. If it is true, kindly advise what you find faulty and dangerous. Your name is now being used in the attempt to defeat much needed public improvements. I have replied as follows: I did not examine Santa Ana River last summer. Was there one day this spring. I have read carefully your report. I made a personal report to Mrs. Bryant with my suggestions and criticism based on that brief study. I suggested Barton M. Jones to make a study on the ground and check up on by tentative opinion. He is there now and I suggest that you see him. I asked Mrs. Bryant not to publish my report as I would want to make more thorough study before committing myself.

(Signed) ARTHUR E. MORGAN.

Dr. Arthur E. Morgan,

Mr. Jones in his report for publication quotes you as follows. In my opinion there is absolutely no danger of clogging up such rising streams. The springs would open themselves up again by the same process as that by which filters are flushed to clean them of sediment. Also. It would be comparatively inexpensive and certain protection to tile the region where they occur, and lead the accumulated waters to some sure outlet, possibly through the dam to a free outflow. In that way the water supply from these rising streams could be made surer than it is now, and losses by evaporation could be decreased over what they are now. The whole value of these rising streams would be permanently and definitely increased over what they would be otherwise. Also. The objection is made to the upper site that as the land slopes are flatter, there would be more water soaked land after the emptying of the reservoir. It would be entirely feasible to thoroughly tile the whole reservoir site, and to make it even better in that respect than the lower site, and that work could be done at about 5% of the saving that would come from using the upper site. Copy of Mr. Jones' report coming by air mail and also confirmation this telegram. This is definitely all quoted from you.

Mrs. Susanna Bixby Bryant,

Anaheim, California.

I have wired Mr. Paul Bailey as follows: I sent Mr. Barton M. Jones to Orange County as an engineer in whose independence, integrity, judgment and professional ability I have the highest confidence. I know of no one who is superior in the accurate analysis of such a problem. Before he left I cautioned him not to rely on my report but to assure himself independently of the merits of the case in order to put him doubly on his guard and to make certain that he would not be doing injustice to a much needed public improvement. I added the following: "Our client may be on the wrong side. Be sure you get both sides before you commit yourself." After his examination he replied that he had my caution fully in mind but that his independent analysis confirmed the chief criticism I had made in my report to Mrs. Bryant. Mr. Jones is a man of exceptionally rigorous standard of independence and integrity and I have as much confidence in the accuracy and independence of his report as though I had prepared it myself.

I told Mrs. Bryant that I could not be interested in her case unless her interest should coincide with the public interest and Barton Jones is no less independent. I suggested in former telegrams that you see him.

I have confidence that Barton Jones has properly appraised the situation and your report and I have authorized him to quote my report in presenting his own. I am sending a copy of this to Mrs. Bryant.

Reflections of an Outsider

Having no voting rights in Orange county I still may claim as a Californian a share in its well being.

There is no question, of course, of the importance of flood control in Southern California, nor is there argument against private rights giving way to a public necessity.

Granting these points in cases of need, when there is an alternative is it not fair to ask a voting public to consider well before it elects to destroy, needlessly, highly developed properties, mar great natural beauty,—always an asset—and ruin a fine educational project built for the future and the state?

An engineer who leaves out of his material plans the human element of love of the soil, pride of fine achievement, dreams of future good to family and state, is blind to the richest heritage of the sons and daughters of pioneers. And pioneers have made America from its bare beginnings on Plymouth Rock and the sands of San Diego, to its present richness.

Their dream was always to create for coming generations conditions better, freer, richer in opportunity than they themselves knew.

This hope has bloomed in farms all across the continent. Farms have always meant tamed nature, struggle and final triumph. Farms are the greatest pride of America and should be most cherished by Americans.

Up at Rancho Santa Ana in the canyon we have a very happy farm community of ranch workers. On the ranch is a neat schoolhouse with its playground for the children, electric lights in the workmen's cottages—all over the farm there is care for the comfort of the workers, and loyalty from them.

At Rancho Santa Ana beyond even family benefits, Mrs. Bryant is building for the state a botanic garden of our native plants, which should become the pride of Orange county, and is already under development on a most scholarly scale which it is Mrs. Bryant's intention to open to any student. It will also bring scholars from all over the world to study localized plant forms of California now widely scattered.

On page 24 of his report Mr. Bailey says "The dwelling and the site for the botanic garden of native plants of California are above the high water line." He refrains from saying that the beautiful new adobe and concrete house which crowns the hilltop, fireproof to hold the Herbarium, is also to be condemned, as is the whole area of the garden, while all the glass houses, lath house, potting sheds and propagating plants necessary to so great a venture, will be flooded.

Such a botanic garden which will be opened certain days in each month to the interested public is a growing asset to Orange county, and to vote to wantonly destroy it when there is an avowedly more desirable dam site available is to blight a great development which should be cherished with pride.

Read Mr. Bailey's long and involved report. Question it. Other engineers equally noted, with national reputations, have pronounced its findings mistaken and its costs excessive.

Women voters of Orange county should think long and seriously before voting for this proposition which will destroy the work done in planning and launching a "public benefit" project like the one outlined by Mrs. Bryant.

Provision has been made and a fund established to continue the development when Mrs. Bryant has to lay it down; with a board of trustees legally created ready to function when that time comes.

CHARLES C. CHAPMAN
Fullerton, California

June 20th, 1929.

Mrs. Susanna Bixby Bryant,
Rancho Santa Ana,
Anaheim, California.

My Dear Mrs. Bryant:—

I have read with very deep interest the reports you have gathered from engineers and geologists with reference to the proposition of Flood Control in the Santa Ana river.

This whole proposition is of such magnitude and there is such varying opinion among engineers, as to which is the better, that I have no hesitancy in saying that further time should be given the voters to make needed enlightening investigations. It is too big to vote on without the fullest and fairest investigation that is possible. The time is too limited now for doing this before the election. I think, therefore that the voters should reject the proposition by voting "No" on the bond issue. This can be voted upon again after fuller investigation if desired. If it is the most feasible proposition it will stand investigation and the voters should have ample time for this.

I am also opposed to changing the long accustomed method of requiring a two-thirds vote instead of a bare majority when any bonded issue is to be voted upon.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) CHARLES C. CHAPMAN.

TOMORROW IS THE DAY TO VOTE AGAINST DAM BONDS

To the Voters of Orange County--

Tomorrow, June 25, is the day when we either burden Orange county with a staggering debt of a million dollars a year for forty years, or else save her from such a foolish, extravagant program.

Believing we should not rush headlong into such a vast experiment, even though coming to us under the guise of "flood control and water conservation," we have investigated the scheme as it stands and have found it wanting.

We have tried, in the short time available, to supply you with facts and figures and expert testimony showing the folly of such a costly, dangerous undertaking, the adoption of which would be the greatest blunder Orange county ever made or ever could make.

The dams will not be safe, according to our engineers, and therefore we don't want them, no matter what they cost. The "conservation" feature is a delusion and a snare, and we believe it to be an unwise experiment, for we can't afford to take a chance on such an amount of money as forty millions of dollars.

When you vote "No" tomorrow, you are doing it for the best interests of Orange county. You are saying "Halt!" to a dangerous dam proposal which might wash away half the county and bankrupt the rest.

When you say "No" to such a doubtful scheme, you are voting for life conservation, for money conservation, for property conservation, and for a more economical water conservation plan in the future, and one that returns more value per dollar.

Unwise bond schemes are defeated ONLY by those who go to the polls, not by those who wish they had. You can't afford to take a chance. Your vote counts just as much as any other, and will help to save Orange county from a great mistake if you vote, and may help to "put over" the bonds if you don't vote.

The evidence is all in. Yours is the choice—to spend forty millions on a doubtful project, or help save this wasteful proposed expenditure for more valuable projects later on. We believe the enlightened citizenry of Orange county will vote "No." If you're in doubt, the only safe way is to vote "No." Be a booster for better dams and better value for your dollars. But by all means, BE SURE TO VOTE! WE WANT NO DOUBTFUL DAMS!

Sincerely,

Water Users Association

MR. JEROME'S ERROR?

County Auditor W. C. Jerome a few weeks ago made a statement at the courthouse that the bond tax rate would be 65 cents on $100 valuation. Then he WROTE IT DOWN! See photostat copy below.

During the dam promoters' campaign just closing, the highest tax rate for this staggering and costly proposal was estimated at 47 cents, over the signature of County Auditor W. C. Jerome, who was directing the dam campaign.

The written note based the 65 cent rate on our valuation EXCLUSIVE of $25,000,000 operative property.

The campaign statement to get voters for the bonds INCLUDES operative property, not subject to tax, and also includes a fantastic exaggerated estimate of future increase in valuation, to make the bond taxes appear very, very low.

Mr. Jerome told us during the campaign that operative property could be taxed. His note below indicates it can't be taxed.

His published statement says the highest tax rate would be 47 cents. His written note says 65 cents. He asks us to vote this $40,000,000 debt upon ourselves the next forty years "on faith," and to take their word for it.

Until the Water Users Association was organized to protect the public from an unwise tax burden, the dam promoters could apparently get away with such methods. Latterly, not being able to successfully refute facts and figures showing the bonds to be a poor and dangerous proposition, the proponents resorted to personal abuse of taxpayers who would not be stampeded into supporting such a preposterous bond issue blindly.

Orange county voters resent such tactics to "put over" anything on them, and they have the right to call a halt to any project submitted to them under such conditions.

Compare the following tax table for campaign uses, and the copy of Mr. Jerome's note:

Proposed Dam Would Cause Orange County to Lose 1050 Inches of Water

Building of the Yorba-Sulphur Slide (Lower Prado) dam, as proposed under the present bond scheme, would cost the ranchers of Orange county 1050 inches of water, a loss equal to the amount proposed to be conserved by this vast expenditure, according to Engineer F. C. Finkle of the Water Users Association in public addresses the past few days.

The points made by Mr. Finkle, which may be checked upon the accompanying sketch, are as follows:

FIRST: There is now a seepage loss in the river channel averaging seven hundred (700) inches from the Upper Dam Site to the Division Box of the Two Mutual Water Companies. This is established by measurements covering a period of many years made by the Engineers of the Water Companies, by the Riverside engineers and by Mr. Finkle as Consulting Engineer.

SECOND: There is a seepage loss in the channel from the division box to the head of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company's canal, averaging three hundred and fifty (350) inches of water. This is based on measurements the same as above stated.

THIRD: The total amount of percolation from the Upper Dam Site to the Lower Dam Site which goes to the underflow supplying wells in the basin below is therefore one thousand fifty (1050) inches.

FOURTH: The Tri-counties Conservation Agreement between Orange County on the one hand and Riverside and San Bernardino Counties on the other hand provides that no water can be taken for conservation in San Bernardino or Riverside Counties during the non-irrigation season except when the river is flowing as far as Olive Bridge.

FIFTH: If an impervious core wall is placed at the Upper Dam Site this will not interfere with the percolation of water whereby one thousand (1000) inches enters the water basin between that point and the lower dam site.

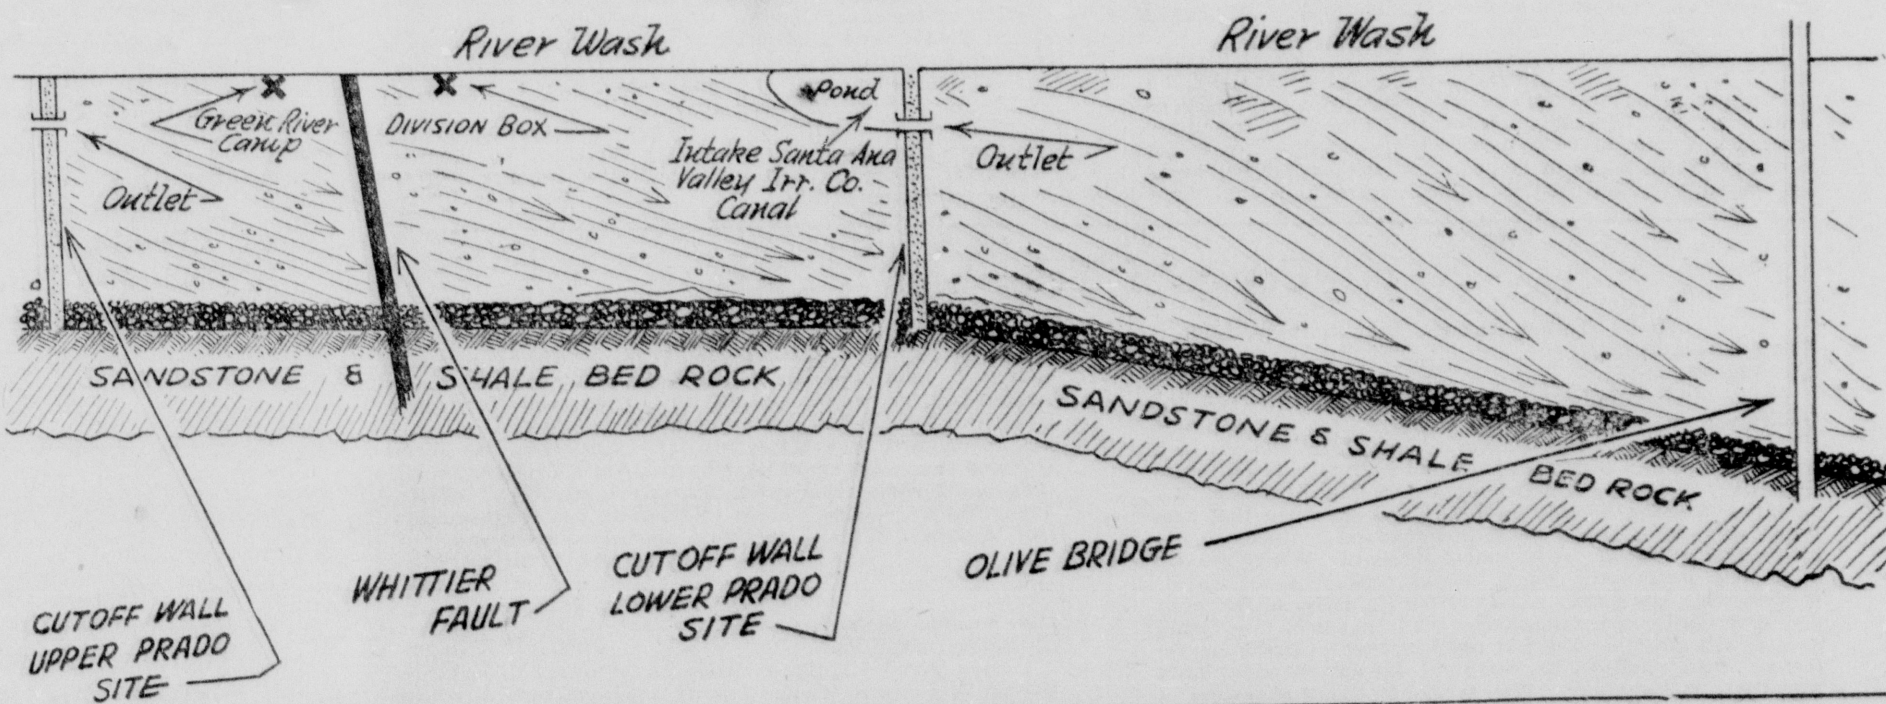

If the lower dam site is adopted and an impervious wall erected there, this will stop the water from following the coarse boulders and gravel near the bed rock down to the under-ground basin but will saturate the wash up to the surface in the whole area, not only to the division box but above. Therefore no water can longer sink into the gravels from the upper dam site to the lower dam site.

SIXTH: As a consequence of the above facts Riverside County will be able to take one thousand and fifty (1050) inches of water more under the tri-counties agreement and still live up to its obligations to have the river flow to Olive Bridge.

The water so taken will be at the expense of the well owners in the basin from which water is pumped in Orange County and will completely offset all conservation through the flood control project as it will equal the conservation claimed by Mr. Bailey if not more.

However, if the dam is built at the Upper Prado site conditions below will remain as they are and Riverside County will not be able to take any more water than at present, while living up to its agreement regarding the making of diversions only while the river flows to the Olive Bridge.

To those depending on wells for their water supply in Orange county the above matters are of the most vital importance.

To the Voters of Orange County

A FINAL WORD AND DEFINITE PROMISE

Should the present flood control bond issue be defeated at the polls tomorrow, we pledge our hearty co-operation to the citizens of Orange County for the construction of a dam at the upper Prado site, for flood control and water conservation.

We sincerely believe the present plan unsafe and extravagant.

We are confident that the present plan would interfere with the natural distribution of ground waters and be a menace to every pumping plant in the Santa Ana Basin.

For these reasons we are opposed to the present plan.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY NAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The Tynmites were so excited. Their wagon now picked up much speed and bumped across the countryside. They knew not what to do. With both the horses broken loose, the Tynmites found it was no use to try to stop their pell-mell pace. So, on and on they flew.

"I wish," cried Coppy, "we would find somebody who would be real kind and stop this reeling wagon, but I guess there is no hope. We're bound to travel till we stop. Then we, no doubt, will take a flop. I'd try to lasso some near tree, if I just had a rope."

"Oh, don't talk silly," Scooty said. "Why don't you ever use your head? 'Twould be absurd to try to rope a tree or anything. I'm sure that that would stop us quick and throw us all out very sick. The plan is not a good one 'cause real trouble it would bring. The scarecrow then spoke up. Said he: 'I think we're safe as we can be as long as we keep riding. Why, I call this heaps of fun. I don't know how long this will last, but we are going some place fast. I'd rather travel this way than to have to walk or run.'"

"Of course you would," someone replied. "It's natural that you'd like to ride. You're only stuffed with straw, and it won't hurt you if you fall. With us it's different. Oh, my yes. Whenever we fall we're in a mess. We don't like taking chances like we are now. Not at all!"

Just then a big tree loomed nearby, and everyone heard Scooty cry, "Look out! Look out! We're going to crash. We'll shortly end this race!"

Oh, mercy me! The speeding wagon hit the tree. The scarecrow and the Tynmites promptly sailed right out through space.

INDIANS STOP WORK ON ROAD UNTIL JAILED

WOLF POINT, Mont., June 24. —(UP)—Getting in the way of machinery and in general making themselves a nuisance, a small group of Indians prevented workmen from constructing a section of federal highway connecting the Missouri river bridge site and the Roosevelt highway, claiming that the road was being built across part of their reservation.

Workmen could accomplish nothing until the seven Indians were arrested and lodged in jail here, promised that their claims would be investigated and some arrangement made to settle the controversy.

The Indians claimed they were being damaged by construction of

Popular Local Girl's Bride of Orange Man

An exquisite accessory to her costume was a dainty lace handkerchief that had been carried 26 years before at her mother's wedding and three years ago at the wedding of her sister, Mrs. Charles Edward Fagg. Her bouquet was of brides roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Florine Pollock was the only bridesmaid and she wore a pink georgette with which she carried a bouquet of pale pink roses and sweet peas. The pretty necklaces which she wore was the gift of the bride, Steven Davidson of Long Beach, brother of the groom was best man.

Little James Finley, nephew of the groom, served as ring bearer and carried a beautiful white satin and lace pillow on which were the rings for the double ring service.

The Rev. M. L. Pearson, retired pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Orange, read the impressive service following which the young people greeted their guests. With them in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kent Pollock, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Davidson of Orange, parents of the groom.

The beautiful white wedding cake was cut by the bride and served with dainty ices by Mrs. Lulu Finley of Orange, Miss Virginia Pollock, Mrs. Lawrence Pollock of Pomona, and Miss Florine Pollock.

Both Mr. Davidson and his bride are graduates of the Orange high school. At present Mr. Davidson is manager of the Safe-Way Meat market in Fullerton in which city they are planning to make their home following a short honeymoon.

Wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Fagg of San Francisco; Mrs. Harriet Butler, of San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Pollock, Clinton Pollock; and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pollock and son, of Pomona; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pollock, Kenneth Pollock, and Miss Virginia Pollock of Santa Paula; Mr. and Mrs. J. Phillips, Miss Laura Ruth Phillips of Eagle Rock; Mr. and Mrs. Sharon Fagg of Riverside; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Davidson, Mrs. Lulu Finley, James Finley, Miss Thelma Shadown, Glenn Feldner, and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Pearson of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Steven Davidson, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Davidson of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Varnoy of Arlington; Harley E. Davidson of Hemet; and Miss Iona Tefft of Seattle, Wash.

Many Santa Anans Are Interested In Wedding

A wedding of interest to many Santa Anans took place Saturday at the parsonage home of the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, when Miss Eva Larmee became the bride of Dwane Berge.

The pretty bride, charming in a smart sports costume, was attended by Mrs. Basil Beard of Los Angeles while Mr. Beard acted as best man. Only relatives and close friends of the young people witnessed the ceremony.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Berge left for a honeymoon in San Diego and on their return to this city they will be established in their tractive new home on South Sycamore street.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Berge are well known in this city where they have lived all of their lives. Both attended local schools where they made a host of friends.

Head Cites Finkle Record

Judges in Los Angeles who know Mr. Finkle and his record thoroughly declare that his opinions and testimony are habitually shaped in accordance with the side of any proposition on which he is involved, and that he has become thoroughly discredited as a witness in engineering matters. In the Orange County Flood Control controversy, Mr. Finkle is the only engineer whose services the opponents of the flood control plan have been able to purchase, although he is by no means the only engineer who has been approached. The foregoing will give some idea of the qualifications of Mr. F. C. Finkle to advise the people of Orange county with reference to the flood control plan.

This man has referred to the dam site as the Sulphur slide dam, and has stated that a fault extends across the site of the Sulphur slide dam, whereas Sulphur slide and the fault referred to are located nearly a mile above the actual dam site.

He has declared that it would be dangerous to construct a dam at the place proposed, and that the cost of constructing the dam will equal the full amount of the bond issue, and has made many other wild and extravagant statements which are in direct opposition to the opinions of many engineers of unquestioned ability and integrity who have made thorough and careful inspection and examinations of the matters involved, and have approved in full and unreservedly the report of Mr. Bailey and the plans proposed thereon.

Those opposed to the flood control plan urge delay and hold out the hope that some cheaper method of flood control and water conservation may plan to offer, and there is no other plan to offer. Had the City of Los Angeles followed the advice of Mr. Finkle and delayed the construction of the Los Angeles aqueduct, disaster for that city would have followed. Several years' time will be required to complete the flood control works, and replenishment of our water basin after its completion will be a slow process. If we postpone action until our orchards begin to suffer and wells and pumping plants to fail in large numbers, it will be too late to avoid disaster for our county. The opposition has grossly exaggerated the tax burden which will result from voting in the bonds. For example, in the for-aidable figures which they published, they include an annual levy of ten cents on the $100.00 of assessed valuation for maintenance charge. Ten cents is the maximum amount which can be levied under the flood control act for maintenance and repairs. It is estimated that one-fourth of one cent tax on $100.00 assessed valuation will provide an ample fund for maintenance. That is only one sample of our opponent's exaggerations. Of course there must be some increase in taxation in order to put this project through, but there is no way to avoid it and do the work that time will inevitably come before many years have passed when ruin will stare us in the face and our county will be in such condition that it cannot sell bonds or finance in any way an effective water conservation project.

A newspaper report of a meeting in Orange says that James Irvine Jr. said "That it seemed queer that Head could straddle the fence and accept retainers from both sides, the water company and the flood control district."

There is no fence, and there is no straddling, and I have accepted and will receive no retainers whatever. Neither the directors of the water company nor the survivors of the flood control district have even requested me to participate or do anything in this controversy. In fact, I have always made it a rule not to accept pay for my support or opposition in connection with any public question, and have always exercised my right to participate in such matters in accordance with my honest convictions. If I find myself opposed to friends and clients, that is just too bad. In this flood election I butted into the fight because I am convinced that a favorable vote on the bonds is a public necessity, and because such glaring misstatements were being made by the opposition and the public so much deceived thereby.

(Signed) H. C. HEAD.

MESSAGES TO GRADUATES

It is worth while noting the messages which are being given to graduating students at this time. The message advocating snobbery given to the Massachusetts Technology graduates, was front page news. Of it, Dr. Charles Wesley Burns, bishop of the San Francisco area of the Methodist Episcopal church said in his baccalaureate sermon to the Pennsylvania Military College graduates, "What a lamentable philosophy . . . The worst thing we have in the country today is the snob—There are too many of them already. . . I advise you to avoid snobbery, and instead strive for creative ideals."

More than 1,800 members of the graduating class of the University of Pennsylvania listened to Rev. Dr. Floyd F. Tompkins say that the college graduate was trained to be a messenger and unless he had a message for the world his training had failed. He must believe, he said, "that what he has learned is not to be stowed away but to be cast into life."

President Lowell, of Harvard, pointed out to five hundred graduates that whereas during the past the United States, "partly from our own preoccupation in subduing a wilderness, partly from instinct for preserving our own identity, maintained an attitude of aloofness," yet now we are under obligations to participate in international affairs.

"The form of this responsibility . . . lies especially upon the generation that is now coming on the stage. I may add that it lies with peculiar weight upon the young men who are setting out with the equipment of a generous education, who in the words of Matthew Arnold have learned to see clear and think straight; for if the graduating class before me has not learned this art it has not received the best the college has to give."

Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton University, delivering the baccalaureate sermon at that institution said, "There is nothing of comparable value for one to possess if it is necessary to sacrifice self-respect, our honor, or our word. To feel self-abased in our own eyes, that is too great a price to pay for wealth or position or any other advantages that may be gained in the strenuous activities of business or professional competition. . . ."

"I would wish . . . that you may come to consider religion as something not apart from your life, and, with whose influences you can easily dispense. If any of you may be inclined to ignore or repudiate the claims of religion, pause for a moment to realize that in the complete elimination of religion from your lives you will also inevitably remove that which you will . . . be constrained to regard of supreme value."

It was President Y. H. P. Faunce, of Brown University, who retired from his position with the graduating class of '29, who delivered one of the most timely and forceful addresses, saying some things which many are glad to have said. He attacked intoxication.

" . . . we shall outgrow the idea that intoxication is tolerable in an age of complicated and dangerous mechanism."

"The man who presumes to steer an automobile through a crowded city while his brain is fuddled is a par excellence a fool . . . In our present state of civilization, we all perceive that the man who claims the privilege of the street, after he has muddled his sense organs is either an infant or a mad man, and in either case should be shut away from civilization."

"Once intoxication was a kind of transient happiness; now it is a permanent menace and lunacy."

Wrong Eating Killing, Expert Asserts

Pasadena Star-News

"If I had $5,000,000 I think I would spend most of it making a study of nutrition. Most of our troubles come from wrong eating. Nearly all of us eat too much, too fast and too often and all too often we eat the wrong kind of food."

Whose words are these, do you think—those of a dietary extremist? Not at all. They are the words of a level-headed man of big business—Dr. Lee K. Frankel, second vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. Dr. Frankel does not speak at random. He weighs his words. The company with which he is connected in the last twenty years has spent $32,000,000 in the interest of public health and has saved thereby $75,000,000, it is estimated. Insurance companies, insuring life and health, find it profitable to themselves to promote public health.

Dr. Frankel's observations about the methods of eating among the American people are borne out only too strongly and deplorably. Eating too much is a common form of dangerous intemperance. Eating too fast and too often are correlative forms of intemperance which undermine health. Eating the wrong kind of food is another fruitful source of broken health.

Children should be fed with scientific care and in moderation. They should be trained to eat slowly; not to eat too often; to eat the right kind of food; and not to eat too much. And this training would be much more effective if parents set the proper example before their children, by eating wisely and moderately themselves.

How Airplanes Bring Prosperity

Riverside Daily Press

The way in which the airplane is going to bring new prosperity to Canada is pointed out by a writer in the June issue of the Review of Reviews.

This writer points out that Canada has virtually unlimited mineral resources, most of them untouched at present, reaching from Labrador around Hudson Bay nearly to the Mackenzie river. And the airplane has made it possible to study this area in a way that never could have been done in the old days.

"Aerial exploration not only has removed many of the terrors and hardships of prospecting, but has opened to the seeker after mineral deposits territories far beyond his reach," says the article. "The past year found planes scouring the territories along the coasts of the Hudson and James Bays, dropping off a party of prospectors here and there and returning later, at a given date, to bring them back to civilization."

Not Easily Frightened!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

TO MR. MUSSOLINI
(Who has taken up golf)
I know that before you were head of a State
You were playing a commonplace trade,
I know that you rose at a breath-taking rate
And miraculous progress you made.
No limit your progress has hampered as yet
And already you've gone very far
But don't make any rash and self confident bet
That you ever will play around par.

You have pulled good old Italy out of a hole,
A fact which the world has confessed,
And being a somewhat self confident soul
No wonder you throw out your chest.
But wait till you cuff seven times at a pill
In a game you regard as a cinch
Putting in all your energy, vigor and skill
On an average drive of an inch!

I know you have set a whole nation to work
That the marts and the mills are atrob,
That there isn't a porter, a lawyer or clerk
Who is hunting around for a job.
You well may believe you're the master of fate
And have still further glories to glean
On the tee and the fairway before it, but wait
Till you get a par three in sixteen.

It isn't a cinch to conduct the affairs
Of a nation just after a war
And the lad who can do it may give himself airs
And toss off the ego galore,
You will still be a whale of a ruler in Rome
Where you number admirers aplenty
But you won't be so proud when some night you
Plo down home
With a card of two hundred and twenty.

Are You Smothered In Material Comfort?

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

"We are smothered in material comfort," says Katherine Gerould, "and we do not know enough to look for comfort of a different kind."

"Only aristocrats can make a spiritual use of leisure. The man who has fought all his life for enough bread to keep him and his family alive will always give undue emphasis to bread. Only in the next generation probably will he turn to the things of the mind: Knowledge, taste, delicate experience. The people who know what money is good for are those who have had it long enough to learn."

This sounds like the famous remark of Patrick McDuff: "New shoes are so stiff I can't get 'em on until I've worn 'em a few times."

How can anybody wear prosperity gracefully and without squeaks until he has tried it awhile?

Nobody can learn to spend either money or leisure wisely, except by having a little to spend. No darling daughter can learn to swim who hangs her clothes on a hickory limb and doesn't go near the water.

"The next generation" is too far away. All of us ought to be "smothered in the material comfort," right here and now. Never fear—comfortable critics—we shall recover our breaths, presently, just as you did.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

For the last sixteen years the colleges have been swamped by an

Since 1913 the colleges of the United States have seen their enrollment leap from 200,000 to 850,000.

Dr. Charles F. Thwing, of Western Reserve University, in a study that has just reached my desk, ventures the prediction that this unprecedented wave of increase reached its crest, and that in the future the growth in college enrollment will have about the same relation to growth in population that now prevails.

Dr. Thwing thinks this rising tide of students since 1913 has been due to the following causes:

First, increased prosperity and higher living standards, which have resulted in many families sending sons and daughters to college for the first time.

Second, the increase in enrollment of high school students.

Third, the increased number of high school courses which are acceptable for college entrance.

Fourth, the increased number of vocational and popular courses offered by the colleges.

Fifth, the increasing tendency of law, medical and other professional schools to demand a liberal education of their candidates, resulting in added enrollment in the arts and sciences.

Sixth, the importance recently placed on social advantages of college life.

Seventh, a vast increase in scholarships and loan funds for worthy students.

Eighth, the growth of part-time and evening courses in metropolitan colleges.

Ninth, the growing insistence of business organizations on college-trained workers.

Tenth, ambitions for education aroused by war-time associations and experiences.

If Dr. Thwing is right in predicting that this torrential stream of students is about to subside, educators will have a great opportunity to effect some far-reaching educational reforms in the years ahead. If they do not have to spend all their time expanding their staffs and finding new funds to take care of an unexpected rush of students, they can settle down to the needed task of simplifying and strengthening our school system—a task to which both financial and educational considerations will compel us to give heed.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

William Henry was growing a bit changeable, mother noticed. He agreed with Tom that he would go right after school and then came home instead, and without telling Tom he had changed his plan. He engaged to go with Helen to select a collar for Mike and when Helen was ready to start William Henry, deep in his book said, "Aw, wait awhile, can't you? I'm reading."

"But—" Helen began.

"I'm not going. I've changed my mind. Go yourself if you want to."

Mother spoke to him about this and warned him that it would make him unhappy one of these days. People had to keep their engagements or find themselves left out of things. Besides that, one's word was one's word. Once given it must not be broken.

Mother hoped he would think about this and resolve to do better.

William Henry listened with that half and half air—half here and the other half busy with his own affairs—and mother sighed. William Henry was a very trying child.

Well, Saturday came bright and fair. All morning William Henry played a ball and had a good time. At luncheon he said that he had promised to go to the movies with his friend, Pete. "It would have been better to have asked me first, William, but as the picture is all right and as you gave your word to Pete, you can go this time. Next time please ask me first."

"O I knew it was all right because Pete's mother said so. Anyway I promised," said William Henry virtuously.

"True," said mother. "What you promise to do you must do unless there is a very good reason and you can be excused."

Right then grandmother drove up to the door in the new car. A big shiny beauty. If William loved anything more than having his own way it was going with grandmother in her big car. He rushed to meet her.

"I came over to get you and the children, Susan. It's just the day for a run into the country. Get on your things."

William Henry rushed for his hat. "William. You must wait for Pete. You know you have an engagement."

"Aw, what do you think? I'm not going with Pete. I'm going with grandmother."

"NO. You must keep your engagement. You cannot go on this way breaking your word. What you say you will do you must do. Here's Pete. Now straighten up and go along with him and don't spoil his afternoon."

William Henry howled. He stormed and he kicked and, "What wept but his mother said, 'What you engaged to do you must do.'"

"I don't want him to go with me if he feels like that," said Pete laughingly.

"Then he can stay home," said mother.

After the family left in the car, William dried his eyes and went along with Pete. "Next time I won't promise," said he, sniffling. "I'll say maybe. Well, 'maybe' would be better than what he was doing."

In the Long Ago

14 Years Ago Today

JUNE 24, 1915

While reading a paper at his hardware store, John McFadden fell dead. With his passing went another of Santa Ana's sturdy pioneers.

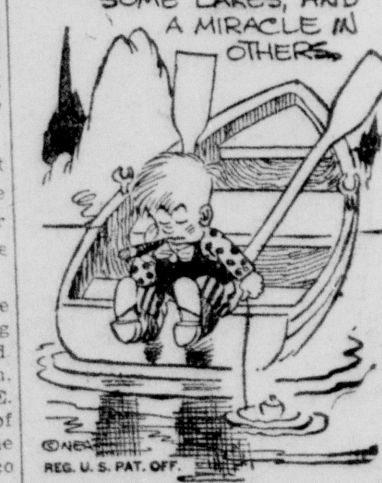

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Zaiser left on a business trip to Salt Lake City, Utah, where Mr. Zaiser owned land. They went via the Salt Lake route.

It was determined that the grade on East First street adjoining the city limits, would be changed.

Bruce Scholes, Alec Burson, John Burson, Jesse Burton, A. E. Chapman composed a party of Santa Anans that rescued a fine buck from three dogs in Trabuco canyon.
